

BATTERED TOP HAT — The old top hat, won by Ted Lewis in a game of dice from a hack driver named Mississippi in New York, is now on permanent display in the Ted Lewis Museum, 133 W. Main St. The museum will be dedicated at 2 p.m. Sunday and opened to the public at that time. An open house and reception will be held following the dedication ceremony at the Colony House, just across the street.

GARDEN ENCLOSURE — While at the Ted Lewis Museum Open House Sunday, look at the gate at the rear of the building. It was installed earlier this year with monies donated by four local banks. Mark Bokenkamp, a blacksmith from Powell, Ohio, designed and installed the gate, which is eight feet high. The overthrow, showing Ted Lewis' top hat and clarinet, is four feet high. Total weight of the gate, depicting two of Circleville's highlights, is 200 pounds. A garden is planned for the enclosed area, behind the museum. Inspecting the gate are the donors, from the left, Ted Steele of First National Bank, Walter Garner of the Savings Bank and Joe Tomlinson of the Third National Bank. The Second National Bank also added to the funding of the gate.

Many People Assist In Lewis Museum Planning

Many people have been planning and working toward the dedication of the Ted Lewis Museum scheduled at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Mayor Frank Barnhill, Chief of Police Robert Temple and Safety Director John McGinnis were instrumental in having Route 22 detoured so that West Main Street could be blocked off for the dedication.

Mrs. Phillip Roby, manager of the Colony House, will assist the Ted Lewis Museum Committee in hosting a private brunch at noon for Mrs. Ted Lewis, close friends and relatives of the famed entertainer and in hosting the open house reception which will follow the dedication.

The First, Second, Third and Savings Banks provided funds for wrought iron gate to the garden area at the rear of the museum.

Page and David Krieger of Emb-Tex Corporation provided the drapery material. Max Noggle assisted with arranging the displays. Denver Greenlee and Son Instruments cleaned the clarinet, saxophone and cornet for the display.

Allen Ankrom did the cabinet work on the display cases. J. Boyd Stout Co. remodeled the museum building. Also involved in the remodeling of the building were Neff Brothers Electric and Anderson Decorating. Boss display fixtures provided some of the display equipment. Roe Crites Antiques of Ashville and Garth Auction of Delaware helped to provide appropriate furniture and display cabinets.

In addition to maintaining the museum, the committee is also responsible for the funding and selection of recipients of a scholarship for students studying music, and for distributing funds to the four high school music departments in the county to purchase musical instruments.

There have also been many individuals as well as members of the committee who have put in many hours planning and working for the dedication.

But above all, the love and devotion of Mrs. Ted (Adah) Lewis and of Ben Gordon, one of Ted's closest friends, have made the museum possible.

Frayed Cord Believed Cause Of Club Fire

ATLANTA (AP) — An Atlanta investigating team says a fire that killed at least 161 persons at a Southgate, Ky., supper club a week ago probably burned for more than an hour before being reported.

The Associated Press learned Friday that a three-man private investigating team reported their findings to Kentucky fire officials Thursday night.

The team estimated that last Saturday's fire began around 7 p.m., EDT. The first alarm was received by firefighters at 9:02 p.m.

The investigators concluded that the fire at the Beverly Hills Supper Club was caused by an electrical short circuit in a power cord for a decorative water fountain pump near the club's Zebra Room.

The high-resistance short in the cord probably was caused by chafing of the cord against an unprotected hole in the fountain's metal frame, the team said.

The fire traveled up a steel I-beam, which acted as a chimney behind heavily plastered walls, eventually reaching the club's attic space, where it was trapped beneath a metal roof, the team said.

The team completed its on-the-scene investigation Thursday after state officials and out-of-state experts spent two days trying to track down the cause. The investigating team's presence on the scene was authorized by a press secretary for Gov. Virgil Carroll.

A wedding reception planned for the Zebra Room was moved elsewhere because the room became too warm. The occupants thought the air conditioning had failed.

However, the team said it found that the room was cool on one side and hot on the side where the fire was moving up the I-beam to the attic space.

The team said the fire moved from the attic to above the Cabaret Room, where several hundred persons were waiting to hear entertainer John Davidson.

The first word of the fire came when a waitress handed a message to busboy Walter Bailey, who was in the Cabaret Room, at 8:45.

Crime Fight Funds Freed By Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes announced approval this week of 31 grants totaling more than $844,000 in state and federal crime control funds.

The largest grant, $156,666 to the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, will continue a program to increase the use of probation and-or community residential centers instead of incarceration for nonviolent offenders.

Other grants approved were: —$21,111 to Allen County for continuation of a Y.M.C.A. group home for boys;

—$19,918 to the Ohio Municipal Judges Association to continue funding for two continuing education seminars for Ohio municipal and county court judges;

—$17,263 to the Department of Highway Safety for a continued program featuring three, six-day operational training schools for 180 Ohio law enforcement officers;

—$12,645 to the Department of Highway Safety to begin a standardized telecommunications program;

—$7,125 to Hocking County for the continued services of an investigator for the prosecuting attorney's office;

—$6,017 to Pickaway County for the continued employment of a full-time probation officer;

—$6,000 to the Judiciary of the State of Ohio to continue an appellate procedural study;

—$5,278 to Lake County to continue comprehensive management analysis and assistance to law enforcement agencies;

—$4,222 to Delaware County to purchase investigative equipment for the detective bureau of the sheriff's department;

—$2,986 to Vinton County for the continued services of two law clerks for the court of appeals;

—$2,375 to Pike County to purchase a recording system for the common pleas court.

Weather

Mostly sunny today with temperatures in the lower 80s. Clear tonight with a low near 60. Partly cloudy Sunday with a high in the middle 80s. Chances of precipitation, near zero per cent today and tonight and 20 per cent Sunday. The high Friday was 75 with a low of 45. The sun will set 8:56 p.m. today and rise 6:03 a.m. Sunday.

Bailey interrupted a comedians' act on stage to ask people to move out of the club, avoiding any mention of fire.

People began leaving calmly, he said, "but the minute we got to the hallway, all hell broke loose."

The fire which killed at least 161 people at Beverly Hills Supper Club "had to be a fluke," an investigator for the National Bureau of Standards has concluded.

Bright described the building as being of "excellent construction."

"It's one of the best built clubs of its kind I've ever seen," Bright said, adding that the club used the best and most durable materials possible with a minimum of plastics.

The contents of the club and not the structure were what caused the spread of smoke and flames, he said.

He said most of the deaths could have been prevented if patrons had heeded the first warnings about the fire.

Many survivors reported that patrons of the Cabaret Room—where a show was going on—thought the first warnings about the fire were part of a comedy act that was going on at the time.

Meanwhile, Southgate city officials released all of their files on fire inspections and construction at the supper club, located five miles south of Cincinnati.

The files were released after a request by The Associated Press for full compliance with Kentucky's state law regarding public access to records.

The correspondence contained no report of any violations during a local fire inspection in April 1976.

"I construe that to mean that no infractions occurred," said City Attorney Albert Root.

Southgate officials said they have no other correspondence regarding any later fire inspections.

During fire checks in 1974 and 1975, inspectors from the Southgate volunteer fire department recommended both years that extinguishers be checked. There were also reports during both inspections that the boiler room was cluttered.

Three Cincinnati architects, hired by newspapers to examine the blueprints held by Southgate authorities, concluded that there were not enough exits provided in the Cabaret room.

However, William R. Roeding, in a telephone interview from Fort Richie, Md., insisted the design was "60 per cent more fire safe than was required by state law." He blamed panic among the patrons for the deaths.

Roeding, a northern Kentucky native, said he did not draw the complete design but consulted on a portion of it.

Dale Bards, a member of the American Institute of Architects, said the Cabaret Room should have had at least 10 exits rather than four.

"That's why so many people died," Bards said. "They just didn't have enough space to get out."

Seek Saccharin Ban Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is being asked to approve legislation that would delay for 1½ years a proposed government ban on the use of saccharin as a food additive.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., said Friday he plans to introduce a bill that would have the effect of heading off the Food and Drug Administration's plans to prohibit the sale and distribution of saccharin in food and drinks, beginning in July.

Rogers said his bill also will direct the National Academy of Science's Institute of Medicine to review how accurately scientific tests done on animals can be related to humans.

The FDA announced plans earlier this year to ban saccharin as an artificial sweetener in food and drinks, permitting its sale only as a non-prescription drug. The action was spurred by Canadian studies showing that high doses of saccharin can cause cancer in rats.

Rogers said he thinks the government is moving too hastily against the sugar substitute.

"The American public needs to know and understand the basis on which any such (FDA) decision is made," the congressman said, maintaining he does not use saccharin.

Rogers said he believes the moratorium proposal could pass Congress quickly. He said the bill, which has not been introduced, will make it clear that the FDA would not be prohibited from taking action on the labeling of saccharin.

Rogers said the sole purpose of his legislation is to provide an 18-month moratorium on FDA action until all information can be reviewed.

One year after enactment of the bill, he said, the Institute of Medicine would report its recommendations for legislative or regulatory action to the Congress.

Rogers acknowledged that he took into consideration public resistance to the proposed ban.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The Air Force Logistics Command at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base is expected to get its first woman general in September.

New Constitution May Give Brezhnev Soviet Presidency

MOSCOW (AP) — A new Soviet draft constitution shaped by Leonid Brezhnev may allow the Communist party leader to consolidate his role as chief of government by taking over the largely ceremonial post of Soviet president as well, Western observers said today.

The current president, Nikolai V. Podgorny, was dropped from the party's ruling Politburo on May 24, and observers here expected he would soon be stripped of the presidency.

As Communist party chief, Brezhnev already wields supreme power in the Soviet Union.

Brezhnev, 70, headed the committee that drafted the new constitution, first promised by the late Nikita S. Khrushchev in 1959, and some observers say he intends it as his political legacy to future Soviet generations.

Observers contend Brezhnev could move into the presidency and delegate routine tasks of the office holder of the newly created post of first deputy president.

The 9,000-word draft, published today across more than three pages in the official party newspaper Pravda, would replace the 1936 constitution written under dictator Joseph Stalin.

It claims to guarantee basic civil rights for Soviet citizens, but says those rights must not be exercised in any way that could harm "the interests of society or the state."

The constitution, Russia's fourth since 1918, recognizes Communist authority over the state by giving more attention to the party and calling it the "leading and directing force of Soviet society." The old constitution devoted only 58 words to the party.

The document, almost certain to be known popularly as the "Brezhnev constitution," was technically labeled a draft intended for nationwide discussion. However, Soviet documents submitted for such "public discussion" in the past have undergone few changes before their final adoption.

Rhodes Shuns Voter Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Any attempt to overturn an election day registration law by referendum will have to go forward without Gov. James A. Rhodes, who says he will disassociate himself from such a movement.

"I will not take any part in it," Rhodes said Friday, when asked about talk that opponents will take the issue to the November ballot.

Majority Democrats overrode the governor's line-item veto of the election day registration portion of the wide-ranging bill last Tuesday.

However, a recently formed organization called Ohioans for Preservation of Honest Elections is considering a signature drive to place the issue of repeal on the ballot.

"That's their business," Rhodes said. "I will not take any position."

In an interview, the governor was philosophical about the emergence of a proven veto-proof Democratic majority in the General Assembly.

"They stood by a principle and so did I," he said.

All 62 Democrats in the House and all 21 in the Senate voted to override three line-item vetoes of the legislation.

Urge Taxes For Welfare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Citizens Council added its voice Friday to those claiming the legislature should raise taxes to meet welfare and other human needs.

Its former president, Mary K. Lazarus, told the Senate Finance Committee that decisions by government leaders against a tax hike were made "far apart from the needs, suffering, and the everyday struggles of many Ohioans to live."

The committee is conducting hearings on Ohio's $11.7 billion state budget bill, already approved by the House, where cuts were made in Aid to Dependent Children appropriations.

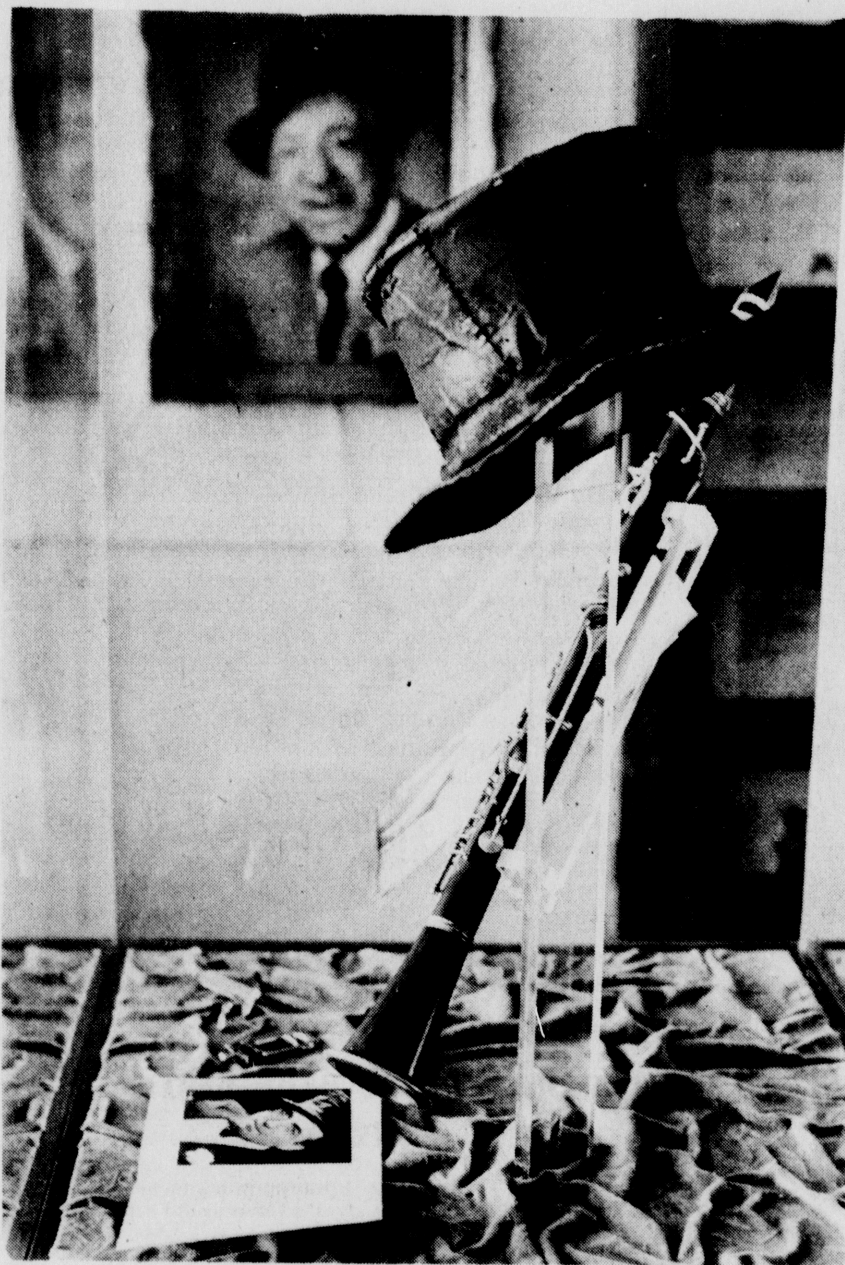

Mrs. Lazarus urged the committee to restore the House cuts, and also provide funds for a cost-of-living increase for ADC recipients.

"We all know what inflation and the energy crisis have been like these last two years, yet nothing has been done to ease the vise these people are in," she said.

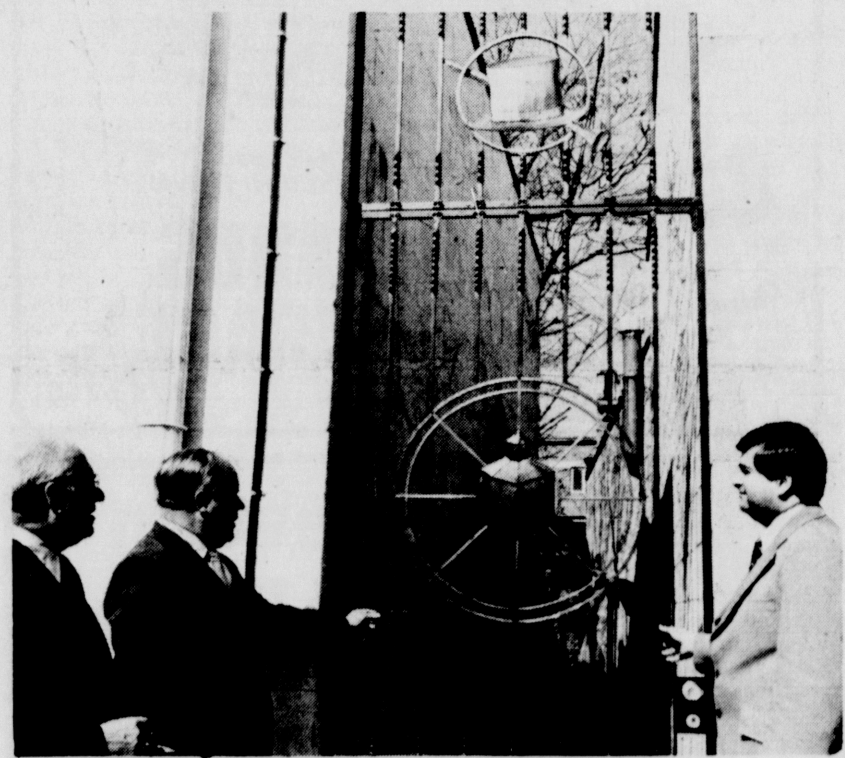

The Ohio League of Women Voters called on the legislature last week to raise taxes in order to provide more funds for vital state services.

Insects Can Prevent Attractive Lawns

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

A number of insect pests attack the lawn. Among the more troublesome, and perhaps, major, ones are grubs, sod webworms, chinch bugs, and bluegrass billbug say Extension Specialists at the Ohio State University.

SOD WEBWORM ADULT

SOD WEBWORM

Grubs are the larvae of June beetles, of which there are more than 30 species. Eggs hatch into tiny grubs in about 4 weeks. The young grubs feed on decaying and living vegetative matter in the soil and remain there until the next spring when they return near the surface to feed on the roots of plants.

Grubs feed vigorously and grow rapidly throughout the second summer, causing most of the damage to the turf during that year. After the second winter, these grubs move to the surface and feed a couple of months on the grass roots. Then, about the middle of June, they move downward in the soil and change to the pupal stage, and after spending a month as pupae, they change to adults but remain in their pupal chambers throughout the fall and winter and emerge as adults the following May and June. Female beetles begin laying eggs shortly after emerging, thus starting the cycle over again.

Usually, the best time to treat for grubs is in late March or early April or in the fall before the ground freezes. Some good insecticides include diazinon, spectracide, dursban 2E, dursban M, milk spore disease, dylox and dasanit. Follow label instructions on whatever insecticide you use.

Control sod webworm with the same insecticides, and add sevin, ethion, and aspon to the list. Application of any one of these should be made from June 1 - June 15 for the first generation of young larvae and between August 1 and August 15 for the second generation.

Sod webworm is one of the more destructive pests of bluegrass. Damage occurs when larvae are feeding, not when the adult moth is flying around. Adult moths can usually be kicked up when walking through or mowing the lawn. They fly a short distance across the lawn in a zig-zag pattern and quickly dart back into the grass.

Chinch bugs can be controlled with the same treatment used to control sod webworm.

There are many other insects and diseases that affect your lawn. Call your County Extension Office, 474-7534, for specific information where you have special problems.

4-H...People Helping People

4-H Camp is almost here. Beginners Camp will begin Tuesday, June 7.

Many 4-H members looking forward to their first camping experience want to know what camping is, what do you do and what happens. These same questions are also asked by parents of all campers. Many times a 4-H camping experience will provide the first opportunity for a young person to be away from home and parents overnight.

There are many different ideas about what 4-H camping is. Some might say that 4-H camp is a place - the green woods, a swimming pool, a campfire site, vesper hill, cabins, a dining lodge - this is camp.

Dr. S. P. Bruny of the State 4-H Staff once said that 4-H camping is "A creative, educational experience in cooperative group living in the out-of-doors setting."

Camping in 4-H makes a contribution to boys and girls in many ways. Camping contributes to good health through supervised activity, sufficient rest, good food and wholesome companionship. Spiritual development is gained by campers as they recognize and appreciate the handiwork of God in the out-of-doors and through vesper programs.

Campers learn how to deal practically and effectively with living situations as camping provides an opportunity for social development.

Most 4-H camping programs are centered around the balanced four-fold development (mental, physical, social and spiritual) of the boy and girl.

Camping further contributes to good citizenship training through flag services and special programs. Citizenship is further enhanced through democratic participation in decision-making, group planning and carrying out of activities.

The development of self-reliance and resourcefulness is important for youth, and camping contributes to this by providing instructions and experience in which campers acquire knowledge and skills essential to their well-being. These experiences plus being away from home and parents contribute to the development of the boy and girl.

4-H Camp is said to be - a lab for learning - an experience in living - and a classroom without walls. In addition to all these good things, 4-H camping is just plain good fun!

2-Day 4-H Harness Horse Camp Slated

A two-day harness horse camp for 4-H age young people will be conducted at the Fayette County Fairgrounds on June 20-21.

The day camp sessions will include lectures, demonstrations, movies of notable races, care and training clinics conducted by top trainers and field trips to Standardbred breeding farms and to Scioto Downs. Attendees will have the opportunity, also, to drive a trotter and pacing horse.

Dr. Dick R. Junk of Fair Chance Farm, camp chairman, reports, "This instructional series project is just one of the Foundation's programs that result from the annual OSBA stallion service auction. In addition, college scholarships totaling $2,500 will be awarded to students interested in a Standardbred breeding career."

To register, send registration fee of $10 along with name, address, age, phone number to the Foundation office, Suite 3, 6076 Busch Blvd., Columbus, Ohio 43229 or telephone (614) 846-1776 for additional information.

Cucumbers Susceptible To Wilt

BACTERIAL WILT ON CUCUMBER

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Cucumber or melon plants are subject to bacterial wilt. And once a plant has this disease, there is no way to save it.

What causes it: Cucumber beetles. These beetles carry the wilt virus and spread it when they feed on your cucumber or melon vines. From the time your plants start to come up (cucumbers just start to come through the surface of the soil), better spray them with sevin. Most insecticides are deadly to honeybees, particularly sevin, so whatever you use, spray or dust late in the evening after bees have gone in the hive for the night.

Some other insecticides you can use to control the beetles are methoxychlor, thiodan, malathion or parathion. Some of these you probably cannot buy unless you are a certified pesticide applicator, but if you can and do, remember that some are much more dangerous than others.

Insecticides have LD 50 numbers, meaning the lethal dosage of poison required to kill 50 per cent of the test animals with a single application of the pure insecticide for a given weight of animal. Thus, the lower the LD 50 value, the more toxic the material. The LD50 value of sevin is 850; methoxychlor - 5000; thiodan - 110; malathion - 1375; and parathion - 13. So we see that parathion is extremely dangerous to humans, if not properly applied. Anything under 100 is considered dangerous.

Be careful with the insecticides you use and read and follow all instructions on the label. It is important to you.

Dear Mrs. G. Arden

Hi Friends,

Now that school is over you'll have even more time to work on your gardens. If you are a member of another 4-H Club you will not be visited this summer but will receive help from your advisor. Mrs. G. Arden members that are not in another club will be visited at least three times before fair. The first visit will be in the next two weeks. If you have any questions write them down and the person checking your garden will help you with them.

Did you know that ants do not like mint? Spearmint and other mint repel ants and may help control aphids since ants place the aphids on the plants. Mint also helps repel black flea beetles and cabbage worm butterflies. Mint leaves scattered on pantry shelves prevent ants or drive them away once they come. Some people plant mint by the front and back doors to keep ants from entering.

Insects Can Prevent Attractive Lawns

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

A number of insect pests attack the lawn. Among the more troublesome, and perhaps, major, ones are grubs, sod webworms, chinch bugs, and bluegrass billbug say Extension Specialists at the Ohio State University.

SOD WEBWORM ADULT

SOD WEBWORM

Grubs are the larvae of June beetles, of which there are more than 30 species. Eggs hatch into tiny grubs in about 4 weeks. The young grubs feed on decaying and living vegetative matter in the soil and remain there until the next spring when they return near the surface to feed on the roots of plants.

Grubs feed vigorously and grow rapidly throughout the second summer, causing most of the damage to the turf during that year. After the second winter, these grubs move to the surface and feed a couple of months on the grass roots. Then, about the middle of June, they move downward in the soil and change to the pupal stage, and after spending a month as pupae, they change to adults but remain in their pupal chambers throughout the fall and winter and emerge as adults the following May and June. ECONOGRAM

ECONOMIC INFORMATION RELATING TO AGRICULTURE

Consumer prices increased 0.8 per cent during April following increases of 0.6 per cent in March, 1 per cent in February and 0.8 per cent in January. The effect was to push the index of consumer prices up to 179.6 per cent or the 1967 average. This is 6.8 per cent above the year earlier average. Inflation appears to be shaping up as one of the most pressing current economic problems. Major factor behind April increase was a 1.5 per cent jump in food prices, following sizeable gains in the previous 3 months. Prices for fresh vegetables and beef were biggest gainers. If weather conditions are unfavorable this summer, food prices will likely continue to lead the price index. However, favorable weather should moderate price escalations. Nonfood prices rose 0.6 per cent in April pointing to a basic inflation rate around 7 per cent.

International payments deficit for the U.S. of $10 to $12 billion on a current account basis is projected for 1977. The U.S. current account was deficit by $604 million in 1976 following a surplus of $11.7 billion in 1975. The current account is composed of the trade in goods and services plus foreign aid grants and government pensions to Americans living abroad.

Agricultural exports were at a record setting pace during the first half of the fiscal year of October to March. But increased imports reduced the trade balance. Export values of $12.7 billion were 8 per cent above a year earlier levels. Soybeans accounted for about 80 per cent of the gain in exports. Lower prices and volume of wheat reduced wheat exports by 44 per cent. Corn volume was up slightly at slightly lower prices. Agricultural imports of $6.4 billion soared 30 per cent higher than a year ago. Coffee prices were the major factor in increased imports as coffee accounted for over one third of the total value of imports.

USSR winter wheat crop could set a new record this year on what appears to be the largest harvested area on record. Soviet press reports that 23.2 million hectares (57.3 million acres) of winter wheat had been top dressed by late April. This would put the potential harvested area 10 per cent above the previous record of 30.7 million hectares in 1971 and 33 per cent above last year. Assuming a yield of 2.35 tons per hectare in the winter crop the total harvest would reach about 50 million tons. Last year 49.4 million tons were harvested with an average yield of 2.70 tons per hectare. Both corn and barley acreage appear to be down from last year.

Wheat crop supplies may reach 3.15 billion bushels in the '77-78 market year. This compares to 2.8 billion last year and 2.14 billion as recently as 1974-75. The large supply situation will need to be solved by a major problem — crop failure somewhere in the world, large feed use, drastic reduction in acreage, or some combination of these. Left to market forces, wheat prices may be near or below corn for a time.

Brazilian soybean harvest may total about 430 million bushels. Earlier estimates placed the potential harvest as high as 487 million bushels. This decline partially explains the upward pressure on soybean prices in world markets. Despite the decline, the 1977 crop will be above the 412.5 million bushels harvested last year and continues the long-term upward trend. Just 24 million bushels were produced in 1968. Brazil has discouraged recent exports of soybeans through higher export taxes and increased domestic consumption requirements. This has increased world demand pressure on U.S. soybean supplies. However, a change in Brazil's export policy could have major impacts on price levels.

How To Study Course Open To Collegians

College students may enroll in the Pickaway County YMCA's 'How to Study in College' course, Harold Hewitt, Y director, announced today.

He indicated that, as enrollments come in for the course, the local Y has received calls asking whether the course is for beginning freshmen only. "I contacted the Purdue author of the course and learned that since the course is approximately 75 per cent devoted to study skills and 25 per cent to adjustments to college, the student already in college should benefit considerably from the study skills portion of the course," Hewitt explained.

Registrations for the "How to Study in College" course to be offered here starting July 25 are coming in steadily and college-bound youth of the Pickaway County were reminded to enroll as soon as possible to insure a place in the one-week, four-evening course.

The "How to Study in College" course, developed originally by two Purdue University professors as a "unique kind of college success insurance policy," will be offered in four nightly lectures at the Trinity Lutheran Parish House, starting July 25. The class will meet from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY S. BECHTEL
County Extension Agent,
Home Economics

It's almost canning season again — and with it will come all sorts of advisories on the cares and cautions to be followed in "putting up" homegrown foods for next winter.

But few of these instructions extend to the use of appliances in home canning. As a result, no canning season passes without at least a handful of complaints about sudden, mysteriously damaged range tops. Mostly, it's either a discoloration or an unexplained "crazing" (fine cracks or lines in the finish) of the porcelain enamel around a heating unit.

The problem, says the Porcelain Enamel Institute, usually is caused by canning equipment which extends beyond the burner unit. This overhang can trap heat and reflect it directly onto the porcelain surface, creating much higher than normal heat intensities.

Porcelain enamel is a highly durable glass fused to metal and can withstand much higher temperatures than any comparable appliance finish (normally up to 1,000 degrees F.). However, it can still suffer damage from extraordinarily high heats over an extended period. For example, an oversize canner that doesn't allow proper heat dispersal can subject a range surface to temperatures up to 1,200 degrees F. Such a concentrated heat attack over a long canning cycle may cause crazing, discoloration — or both.

The safest answer, of course, lies in using equipment that fits the burner unit. If this is not possible, then the homemaker needs to be aware of precautions to take when using larger canners.

Be sure there is a space of at least 3/4 inch between the pan overhang and the surface. This will allow air to circulate and help disperse reflected heat.

Don't "shick" the surface by wiping under the overhang with a cold cloth.

Wait until the canner has finished processing, then use a warm, sudsy cloth to wipe up spills.

Take into account the type of canner used. Canners made of bright shiny metals reflect more heat and are more inclined to cause damage than non-reflective surfaces, such as the old-time blue-black porcelain water bath canners. Any dull or brushed metal finish on the bottoms of pressure-type canners is more conducive to absorbing the heat than reflecting it. Flat-bottomed canners also offer better insurance against mishaps than those with rippled or somewhat concave bottoms, which are more apt to trap heat against the range surface.

Try not to concentrate all the canning time on one burner. Canning cycles may range from 30 minutes with a water bath method up to 1 1/2 hours with a pressurized canner. It is repeating these cycles on a single burner that invites the most danger of heat damage to the range finish. So if you have a lengthy canning session, be sure to alternate between the two large surface units. If your range has only one large burner, try to allow the surface around it to cool down before processing a second canning.

Use the minimum heat setting

necessary to maintain the boil or the pressure while canning. Some homemakers, particularly those using the water bath method, tend to turn the control to "high" to reach a boil, then leave it there for the entire canning process. This not only adds to the heat problem, but also wastes energy.

Having a clean range before beginning the canning process also is important. Be sure the work surface adjacent to heating units is free of grease, spills and detergent residue. The high heats reflected from a canner overhang can bake on soils which will be very difficult to remove.

The Institute emphasizes that range damage from canning is no severe problem of epidemic proportions. But it can be a severe problem for that one homemaker who inadvertently ruins her range top by not taking proper precautions.

Beef Vote Registration June 6-17

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Cattle producers in Pickaway County are invited to register to vote in a national beef referendum between June 6 and 17. The registration will take place at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office in Circleville, said George Hamrick, County Extension Agent, Agriculture.

This registration is necessary in order to qualify for voting in the referendum between July 5 and 15.

The referendum is an attempt to greatly boost the self-help efforts of the beef industry. If passed, the new program would provide $30 to $40 million each year for beef promotion, education and nutrition research, compared to the $4 million being spent now.

Funds for the new program would be generated by a value-added plan designed so the cow-calf man, the stocker operator, and the feeder will each pay his fair share, based on the value that he adds. The collection rate would be three-tenths of one per cent of sales value, said Hamrick.

Ohio would receive about $70,000 from the National Beef Board to continue its in-state educational and advertising activities. The Ohio Beef Marketing Program operating committee is on record saying that if the national program passes they will ask that the Ohio ten cents per head checkoff be discontinued, said Hamrick.

The idea for a new beef promotion program came from producer groups working closely with Congress in developing the Beef Research and Information Act which called for the beef referendum.

More information about the Act or the referendum may be obtained from your county A.S.C.S. office or the County Extension Office.

In talking to women around the county, I have heard it suggested someone should organize a quilters society in this county. There are many master quilters here. The quilts they are making should be photographed and recorded, as well as organized into a public exhibit during a local festival.

In other states and counties, quilters societies perform such services as: sponsor quilting workshops and symposiums, record original local designs, write biographies of locally born master quilters, publish original patterns, sponsor exhibits, awards and recognition for quality quilts, maintain collections of historical and unusual quilts, and coverlets. Quilting is an integral part of the historical home arts of this country, and such societies help to preserve this heritage and teach the art to new generations of home artists.

Such a society might have two types of members: those recognized as master quilters, and any other who are interested and learning the art (apprentices). The master quilters would serve as judges for any contests, decide upon which quilts should be included in any publications, select quilt patterns for publication, and decide which quilts should be included in historical collections. A definite system should be defined so that members can qualify to become master quilters as skills increase (possibly quilted a certain number of quilts of various designs, created a design, be elected by a group, or whatever).

If anyone is interested in serving on a steering committee to formulate standards and set up the quilters society, please contact myself at 474-7534, or Mabel Walker, at 474-6466. The society membership will be open to anyone interested in quilting or collecting them, male or female.

Name Celebrant At Special Mass

SOMERSET, Ohio (AP) — The Most Rev. Edward J. Herrmann, bishop of the Columbus Roman Catholic Diocese, will be the principal celebrant Sunday at a mass observing the sesquicentennial of Holy Trinity Church in this Perry County town.

Holy Trinity's first church was built in 1826 and 1827 and was started only eight years after nearby St. Joseph's was built in 1818 as the first Catholic church in Ohio.

Other events planned this weekend to celebrate the sesquicentennial included a fish fry Friday night, a ham and chicken dinner Saturday and a buffet Sunday afternoon.

Pistachio Nut Lover Wins Out

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — The way engineer and pistachio nut lover Fred Wright figured it, the average of 11 "non-openable" pistachio nuts per can added up to 17.5 cans of unsplit nuts he was cheated out of over the past 20 years.

So he wrote to the president of Standard Brand Foods, maker of Planters Pistachios, about the problem. The company sent Wright 16 cans of nuts, but postscripted a note saying it had only been in the pistachio business for eight years.

The 16 cans completely satisfied him, he said, as did a letter from Mary Lynn Woods of the company's consumer service department, which said a "thorough investigation" would be made.

He adds that he must have been eating another brand of pistachios back in the 1950s and early 1960s.

Bitten-Off Finger

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — A court has fined Gyoergyi Ivanka $100 for chopping off a chunk of her neighbor's finger in a fight over her dog.

According to testimony, the 24-year-old woman was playing with her dog outside her apartment building when neighbors started to complain about the noise. In defiance of their shouts for her to leave, she unleashed the dog, and 17-year-old H. Janos went down to further complain.

The disbelieving court called in a medical expert to verify that the part of Janos' finger lost was the result of a bite from a human, not a dog, and the fine was levied.

ECONOGRAM

ECONOMIC INFORMATION RELATING TO AGRICULTURE

Consumer prices increased 0.8 per cent during April following increases of 0.6 per cent in March, 1 per cent in February and 0.8 per cent in January. The effect was to push the index of consumer prices up to 179.6 per cent or the 1967 average. This is 6.8 per cent above the year earlier average. Inflation appears to be shaping up as one of the most pressing current economic problems. Major factor behind April increase was a 1.5 per cent jump in food prices, following sizeable gains in the previous 3 months. Prices for fresh vegetables and beef were biggest gainers. If weather conditions are unfavorable this summer, food prices will likely continue to lead the price index. However, favorable weather should moderate price escalations. Nonfood prices rose 0.6 per cent in April pointing to a basic inflation rate around 7 per cent.

International payments deficit for the U.S. of $10 to $12 billion on a current account basis is projected for 1977. The U.S. current account was deficit by $604 million in 1976 following a surplus of $11.7 billion in 1975. The current account is composed of the trade in goods and services plus foreign aid grants and government pensions to Americans living abroad.

Agricultural exports were at a record setting pace during the first half of the fiscal year of October to March. But increased imports reduced the trade balance. Export values of $12.7 billion were 8 per cent above a year earlier levels. Soybeans accounted for about 80 per cent of the gain in exports. Lower prices and volume of wheat reduced wheat exports by 44 per cent. Corn volume was up slightly at slightly lower prices. Agricultural imports of $6.4 billion soared 30 per cent higher than a year ago. Coffee prices were the major factor in increased imports as coffee accounted for over one third of the total value of imports.

USSR winter wheat crop could set a new record this year on what appears to be the largest harvested area on record. Soviet press reports that 23.2 million hectares (57.3 million acres) of winter wheat had been top dressed by late April. This would put the potential harvested area 10 per cent above the previous record of 30.7 million hectares in 1971 and 33 per cent above last year. Assuming a yield of 2.35 tons per hectare in the winter crop the total harvest would reach about 50 million tons. Last year 49.4 million tons were harvested with an average yield of 2.70 tons per hectare. Both corn and barley acreage appear to be down from last year.

Wheat crop supplies may reach 3.15 billion bushels in the '77-78 market year. This compares to 2.8 billion last year and 2.14 billion as recently as 1974-75. The large supply situation will need to be solved by a major problem — crop failure somewhere in the world, large feed use, drastic reduction in acreage, or some combination of these. Left to market forces, wheat prices may be near or below corn for a time.

Brazilian soybean harvest may total about 430 million bushels. Earlier estimates placed the potential harvest as high as 487 million bushels. This decline partially explains the upward pressure on soybean prices in world markets. Despite the decline, the 1977 crop will be above the 412.5 million bushels harvested last year and continues the long-term upward trend. Just 24 million bushels were produced in 1968. Brazil has discouraged recent exports of soybeans through higher export taxes and increased domestic consumption requirements. This has increased world demand pressure on U.S. soybean supplies. However, a change in Brazil's export policy could have major impacts on price levels.

How To Study Course Open To Collegians

College students may enroll in the Pickaway County YMCA's 'How to Study in College' course, Harold Hewitt, Y director, announced today.

He indicated that, as enrollments come in for the course, the local Y has received calls asking whether the course is for beginning freshmen only. "I contacted the Purdue author of the course and learned that since the course is approximately 75 per cent devoted to study skills and 25 per cent to adjustments to college, the student already in college should benefit considerably from the study skills portion of the course," Hewitt explained.

Registrations for the "How to Study in College" course to be offered here starting July 25 are coming in steadily and college-bound youth of the Pickaway County were reminded to enroll as soon as possible to insure a place in the one-week, four-evening course.

The "How to Study in College" course, developed originally by two Purdue University professors as a "unique kind of college success insurance policy," will be offered in four nightly lectures at the Trinity Lutheran Parish House, starting July 25. The class will meet from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY S. BECHTEL
County Extension Agent,
Home Economics

It's almost canning season again — and with it will come all sorts of advisories on the cares and cautions to be followed in "putting up" homegrown foods for next winter.

But few of these instructions extend to the use of appliances in home canning. As a result, no canning season passes without at least a handful of complaints about sudden, mysteriously damaged range tops. Mostly, it's either a discoloration or an unexplained "crazing" (fine cracks or lines in the finish) of the porcelain enamel around a heating unit.

The problem, says the Porcelain Enamel Institute, usually is caused by canning equipment which extends beyond the burner unit. This overhang can trap heat and reflect it directly onto the porcelain surface, creating much higher than normal heat intensities.

Porcelain enamel is a highly durable glass fused to metal and can withstand much higher temperatures than any comparable appliance finish (normally up to 1,000 degrees F.) However, it can still suffer damage from extraordinarily high heats over an extended period. For example, an oversize canner that doesn't allow proper heat dispersal can subject a range surface to temperatures up to 1,200 degrees F. Such a concentrated heat attack over a long canning cycle may cause crazing, discoloration — or both.

The safest answer, of course, lies in using equipment that fits the burner unit. If this is not possible, then the homemaker needs to be aware of precautions to take when using larger canners.

Be sure there is a space of at least 3/4 inch between the pan overhang and the surface. This will allow air to circulate and help disperse reflected heat.

Don't "shick" the surface by wiping under the overhang with a cold cloth. Wait until the canner has finished processing, then use a warm, sudsy cloth to wipe up spills.

Take into account the type of canner used. Canners made of bright shiny metals reflect more heat and are more inclined to cause damage than non-reflective surfaces, such as the old-time blue-black porcelain water bath canners. Any dull or brushed metal finish on the bottoms of pressure-type canners is more conducive to absorbing the heat than reflecting it. Flat-bottomed canners also offer better insurance against mishaps than those with rippled or somewhat concave bottoms, which are more apt to trap heat against the range surface.

Try not to concentrate all the canning time on one burner. Canning cycles may range from 30 minutes with a water bath method up to 1 1/2 hours with a pressurized canner. It is repeating these cycles on a single burner that invites the most danger of heat damage to the range finish. So if you have a lengthy canning session, be sure to alternate between the two large surface units. If your range has only one large burner, try to allow the surface around it to cool down before processing a second canning.

Use the minimum heat setting

necessary to maintain the boil or the pressure while canning. Some homemakers, particularly those using the water bath method, tend to turn the control to "high" to reach a boil, then leave it there for the entire canning process. This not only adds to the heat problem, but also wastes energy.

Having a clean range before beginning the canning process also is important. Be sure the work surface adjacent to heating units is free of grease, spills and detergent residue. The high heats reflected from a canner overhang can bake on soils which will be very difficult to remove.

The Institute emphasizes that range damage from canning is no severe problem of epidemic proportions. But it can be a severe problem for that one homemaker who inadvertently ruins her range top by not taking proper precautions.

Beef Vote Registration June 6-17

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Cattle producers in Pickaway County are invited to register to vote in a national beef referendum between June 6 and 17. The registration will take place at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office in Circleville, said George Hamrick, County Extension Agent, Agriculture.

This registration is necessary in order to qualify for voting in the referendum between July 5 and 15.

The referendum is an attempt to greatly boost the self-help efforts of the beef industry. If passed, the new program would provide $30 to $40 million each year for beef promotion, education and nutrition research, compared to the $4 million being spent now.

Funds for the new program would be generated by a value-added plan designed so the cow-calf man, the stocker operator, and the feeder will each pay his fair share, based on the value that he adds. The collection rate would be three-tenths of one per cent of sales value, said Hamrick.

Ohio would receive about $70,000 from the National Beef Board to continue its in-state educational and advertising activities. The Ohio Beef Marketing Program operating committee is on record saying that if the national program passes they will ask that the Ohio ten cents per head checkoff be discontinued, said Hamrick.

The idea for a new beef promotion program came from producer groups working closely with Congress in developing the Beef Research and Information Act which called for the beef referendum.

More information about the Act or the referendum may be obtained from your county A.S.C.S. office or the County Extension Office.

Progress Compounded

In backing Columbus, according to historian Samuel Eliot Morison, Queen Isabella had two motives: To make a buck in the spice trade, and to open new territories for her missionaries. It did not occur to her that she was about to change the history of mankind.

That is the way of most turning points in human history. The Manhattan Project which resulted in the atomic bomb was basically a defensive move against the danger of Germany's doing it first. It launched the nuclear age.

Johann Gutenberg found a way to print with movable type for the simple reason that he wanted more people to read the Bible. He had no idea that he was introducing mass literacy.

These great human adventures had two things in common: They were done for practical reasons, and most contemporaries said, "who needs it?"

The space program began for practical, everyday reasons. Russia's sputnik scared the pants off most Americans. The initial goal of catching up with the Russians was achieved, and this is part of the reason why now there is a slowing of interest.

However, America has slowly but surely gained space knowledge and technology, and that technology now flows far beyond the original confines of space. In itself that is an excellent reason to continue to support space science, even though traveling to another planet may have lost some of its urgency.

Do You Remember?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — They say when a person starts thinking about the good old days, he's becoming either maladjusted or obsolete.

I opted for maladjusted this week when a little paperback titled "Whatever Happened To..." arrived at the office. I decided it was not much fun being adjusted to today's conditions, anyway. It was more fun in the days when a foul word got you a mouth-scrub with real soap, when nudity was confined to "colonies," and violence in the schools consisted of hair-pulling, an occasional strategically positioned thumbtack, and clapping two blackboard erasers together to blow chalk on a kid you didn't like.

The book asks you to remember whatever happened to... zoot suits; trading your egg salad sandwich for someone else's peanut butter and jelly at lunch; having a date and worrying if your pimples would clear up by 8 o'clock; singing cowboys; adenoids and Ann Sheridan hairdos; vacant lots; seeing somebody actually tip his hat when he met a lady on the street; eating something without knowing how many calories it had, or even knowing what a calorie was. And other dumb nostalgic things like that.

But its greater value is jogging your brain into a memory trip that is more exciting than seeing old movies - because this is your life. Back when. You can sit down with your husband or a friend of the same vintage and challenge each other to dig up the greatest number of "do you remember..." It's sort of like taking a second honeymoon - in a log cabin, with flies that don't go near the fly paper.

My husband and I did a bit of reminiscing the other night, taking turns, interrupted now and then by our teenage son exhorting, "That's weird." He was impressed with our senility, but didn't quite believe it all when we remembered the days when:

On rainy days, in summer, you could walk barefoot in the gutters and your feet didn't even get dirty.

The bakery cart used to pass the house, drawn by a horse and wafting wonderful smells, and you could hop aboard and buy a doughnut for one penny.

Every boy wanted to be President of the United States, and families flew the American flag in the front yard every holiday.

Houses had front porches and back porches and side porches and screened-in porches, and usually only one bathroom for every four bedrooms.

Girls exchanged autographed photos of movie stars, and took tuna fish sandwiches wrapped in wax paper to the movies on Saturdays, and stayed to see the same film three times.

They made furniture and rugs and cars that didn't wear out for years and years.

There was a painted turtle in a bowl in the living room, and at the circus or county fair, you could buy chameleons for a nickel and "wear" them on your shoulder while they changed color.

Children took elocution, piano and dancing lessons whether they wanted to or not.

Little girls used to think if they kissed a boy, they might get pregnant.

Little boys made rubberband guns with cardboard bullets, pipe-cleaner people and soap box racers, and not one of them ever nagged for sugar-coated cereal they'd seen on TV commercials, because there wasn't any sugar-coated cereal and there wasn't any TV.

Women who used four-letter words were called "tramps." Women who kissed on the first date were "fast."

The only dirty books most people saw were the ones they'd dropped in the mud coming home from the library.

On Trick or Treat night, if you wanted candy, you had to sing a song or play the piano or recite a poem.

Men and children stood up to give ladies their seats, and families lived in the same house for 50 years.

And you knew positively everyone in your neighborhood, including their dogs, Lad and Prince.

You really did go to grandma's house for Christmas - no, not in a sleigh; in a Studebaker. Grandmas did not have condominiums in those days.

People took either castor oil or milk of magnesia, instead of tranquilizers, and psychoanalysis wasn't even in the dictionaries.

We must have thought of 40 more nostalgic nonsensees, and our son finally became bored when we put on a record of Benny Goodman's quintet. "You listen to that stuff?" he said, pointing out the superiority of Wings, Pilot, Moody Blues, Eagles and other groups whom he considers the real "roots" of American music. "How can you call those the good old days?" he asked.

And of course they weren't, really. In our childhoods, the poor were too poor, the rich were too rich, the minorities were too oppressed and the middle class too uninformed. Women considered it unladylike to come out on top, even in a croquet match.

But there were some values worth keeping that have been lost, and some shenanigans worth chucking over because their innocence will never return. Sometimes, in today's world, it's fun to look back over your shoulder... without having to worry about what might be sneaking up on you.

Passionate Plant Keepers

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Three-fourths of all house plants owners "enjoy caring for them," while the remaining one quarter did not, according to a survey conducted by Phillips Products.

The survey found that most people keeping plants have a "nurturing" or caring, "protective attitude" toward their plants.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, June fourth, the 155th day of 1977. There are 210 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1942, the Pacific War Battle of Midway began. The naval warfare ended in Japan's first decisive defeat in the war.

On this date: In 1896, Henry Ford made a successful run with his car — a nighttime drive around streets in Detroit.

In 1946, Juan Peron was inaugurated President of Argentina.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev conferred in Vienna.

Ten years ago: U.S. Marines in South Vietnam claimed a lopsided victory over a Communist regiment, with 474 of the enemy killed. The Marine fatalities were put at 54.

Five years ago: American planes set fire to a major fuel distribution installation on the outskirts of the port of Haiphong in North Vietnam.

One year ago: The United States lost its fight to keep the Palestine Liberation Organization out of the 132-nation World Employment Conference.

Today's birthday: Opera singer Robert Merrill is 58 years old.

Thought for today: If you think children don't know the value of money, try giving one a nickel. — anonymous.

LAFF - A - DAY

"He has it set for bedtime."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

It is well known that the first few minutes after a heart attack or a stroke may determine, in some instances, whether a person will live or die.

When one is surrounded by friends or family, there is a greater chance that doctors and paramedics, and fire department and police department emergency rescue teams may come to the rescue.

For the many people who are living alone, a device known as "Microlet" was created by an engineer, Tom Cataldo, in Burbank, California.

The device is a tiny radio transmitter about the size of a matchbook. It can be worn around the neck and, when squeezed, can send out a message to one of the 24 hour emergency agencies in the city.

The message can, in addition, be sent to a neighbor friend or relative, thus insuring the live-alone immediate contact with the outside world should a medical emergency arise.

A long-haired young man had his entire scalp torn off when his hair got caught in machinery. (This is a danger that is more real than is commonly believed.)

A group of surgeons, neurosurgeons

and plastic surgeons, using operating microscopes, did a total scalp replantation — possibly the first one done in this country.

At the Ralph K. Davies Medical Center in San Francisco, the surgeons worked for 17 hours to rejoin the arteries and veins that had been severed by the accident.

Working in relay teams, some tackled the problem of infection, others devoted themselves to the torn blood vessels, while another group tended to the injury to the skull itself.

The victim, after recovery, said, "I should have known better because, as a chef, I must be careful in the kitchen and keep my long hair tied back when I'm around moving parts or open flames."

At the Medical College of Georgia, Dr. Armand Karow and a team of scientists have succeeded in freezing animal kidneys, then thawing them and using them when needed for transplants in other animals.

This technique has proved to be of value and holds promise for human application.

Jobless Rate Drops Below 7 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate in May fell below 7 per cent for the first time in 2½ years, edging down to 6.9 per cent, the Labor Department reported today.

The department said the decline in the jobless rate, down from 7 per cent in April, coupled with continued growth in employment last month signaled further improvement in the economy.

Total employment rose by 385,000 in May to 90.4 million.

Since October, the government noted that nearly 2.7 million more Americans have found jobs, an average of 380,000 a month.

The unemployment rate has fallen from its postrecession high of 8 per cent last November and at 6.9 per cent stands at its lowest level since November 1974, when it stood at 6.7 per cent.

The number of unemployed totalled 6,750,000 last month, a decline of about 13,000 from April.

The jobless rate for adult women fell from 7 per cent to 6.6 per cent, but the rate for adult men rose to 5.3 per cent from 5 per cent, as joblessness among adult black males increased.

Labor Department analysts said the increase in the male jobless rate following a decline of nearly a full percentage point between February and April could be a disturbing sign or merely a quirk in the statistics. However, the analysts said no conclusion could be made on the basis of only one month's figures.

Jobless rates for most other worker categories were little changed last month.

Joblessness among teen-agers increased slightly from 17.8 to 17.9 per cent.

Among whites, unemployment edged down to 6.2 per cent from 6.3 per cent, while the rate for blacks increased from 12.3 to 12.9 per cent.

The gain in employment last month included a rise of 125,000 new jobs in agriculture, the government said. Industry payrolls also increased for the seventh consecutive month, advancing by 185,000 in May with most of the gain in the durable goods industries, including fabricated metal products, machinery and electrical equipment. Employment in the construction industry, which had grown substantially earlier this year rose by 15,000 in May.

Dear Editor:

The property owners of Elm Grove Estates Subdivision, Section 3, would like to take this opportunity to thank Commissioners Bob Liston, Don Strous, and Carl Schein for answering our letter to the Editor of May 17, 1977, and for taking their time to attend a meeting with the residents and discuss the drainage problem in our subdivision.

A timetable for completion of the work was presented to us during the meeting. This timetable was given to the Commissioners by a representative of the County Engineer's Office wherein the responsibility lies for completion of this work.

We can only hope that this schedule will be met, this time, and save the residents further problems and anguish.

Sincerely,

A Page Of Opinion

Progress Compounded

In backing Columbus, according to historian Samuel Eliot Morison, Queen Isabella had two motives: To make a buck in the spice trade, and to open new territories for her missionaries. It did not occur to her that she was about to change the history of mankind.

That is the way of most turning points in human history. The Manhattan Project which resulted in the atomic bomb was basically a defensive move against the danger of Germany's doing it first. It launched the nuclear age. Johann Gutenberg found a way to print with movable type for the simple reason that he wanted more people to read the Bible. He had no idea that he was introducing mass literacy.

These great human adventures had two things in common: They were done for practical reasons, and most contemporaries said, "who needs it?"

The space program began for practical, everyday reasons. Russia's sputnik scared the pants off most Americans. The initial goal of catching up with the Russians was achieved, and this is part of the reason why now there is a slowing of interest.

However, America has slowly but surely gained space knowledge and technology, and that technology now flows far beyond the original confines of space. In itself that is an excellent reason to continue to support space science, even though traveling to another planet may have lost some of its urgency.

Do You Remember?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — They say when a person starts thinking about the good old days, he's becoming either maladjusted or obsolete.

I opted for maladjusted this week when a little paperback titled "Whatever Happened To..." arrived at the office. I decided it was not much fun being adjusted to today's conditions, anyway. It was more fun in the days when a foul word got you a mouth-scrub with real soap, when nudity was confined to "colonies," and violence in the schools consisted of hair-pulling, an occasional strategically positioned thumbtack, and clapping two blackboard erasers together to blow chalk on a kid you didn't like.

The book asks you to remember whatever happened to... zoot suits; trading your egg salad sandwich for someone else's peanut butter and jelly at lunch; having a date and worrying if your pimples would clear up by 8 o'clock; singing cowboys; adenoids and Ann Sheridan hairdos; vacant lots; seeing somebody actually tip his hat when he met a lady on the street; eating something without knowing how many calories it had, or even knowing what a calorie was. And other dumb nostalgic things like that.

But its greater value is jogging your brain into a memory trip that is more exciting than seeing old movies - because this is your life. Back when. You can sit down with your husband or a friend of the same vintage and challenge each other to dig up the greatest number of "do you remember..." It's sort of like taking a second honeymoon - in a log cabin, with flies that don't go near the fly paper.

My husband and I did a bit or reminiscing the other night, taking turns, interrupted now and then by our teenage son exhorting, "That's weird." He was impressed with our senility, but didn't quite believe it all when we remembered the days when:

On rainy days, in summer, you could walk barefoot in the gutters and your feet didn't even get dirty.

The bakery cart used to pass the house, drawn by a horse and wafting wonderful smells, and you could hop aboard and buy a doughnut for one penny.

Every boy wanted to be President of the United States, and families flew the American flag in the front yard every holiday.

Houses had front porches and back porches and side porches and screened-in porches, and usually only one bathroom for every four bedrooms.

Girls exchanged autographed photos of movie stars, and took tuna fish sandwiches wrapped in wax paper to the movies on Saturdays, and stayed to see the same film three times.

They made furniture and rugs and cars that didn't wear out for years and years.

There was a painted turtle in a bowl in the living room, and at the circus or county fair, you could buy chameleons for a nickel and "wear" them on your shoulder while they changed color.

Children took elocution, piano and dancing lessons whether they wanted to or not.

Little girls used to think if they kissed a boy, they might get pregnant.

Little boys made rubberband guns with cardboard bullets, pipe-cleaner people and soap box racers, and not one of them ever nagged for sugar-coated cereal they'd seen on TV commercials, because there wasn't any sugar-coated cereal and there wasn't any TV.

Women who used four-letter words were called "tramps." Women who kissed on the first date were "fast."

The only dirty books most people saw were the ones they'd dropped in the mud coming home from the library.

On Trick or Treat night, if you wanted candy, you had to sing a song or play the piano or recite a poem.

Men and children stood up to give ladies their seats, and families lived in the same house for 50 years.

And you knew positively everyone in your neighborhood, including their dogs, Lad and Prince.

You really did go to grandma's house for Christmas - no, not in a sleigh; in a Studebaker. Grandmas did not have condominiums in those days.

People took either castor oil or milk of magnesia, instead of tranquilizers, and psychoanalysis wasn't even in the dictionaries.

We must have thought of 40 more nostalgic nonsense, and our son finally became bored when we put on a record of Benny Goodman's quintet. "You listen to that stuff?" he said, pointing out the superiority of Wings, Pilot, Moody Blues, Eagles and other groups whom he considers the real "roots" of American music. "How can you call those the good old days?" he asked.

And of course they weren't, really. In our childhoods, the poor were too poor, the rich were too rich, the minorities were too oppressed and the middle class too uninformed. Women considered it unladylike to come out on top, even in a croquet match.

But there were some values worth keeping that have been lost, and some shenanigans worth chucking over because their innocence will never return. Sometimes, in today's world, it's fun to look back over your shoulder without having to worry about what might be sneaking up on you.

Passionate Plant Keepers

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Three-fourths of all house plants owners "enjoy caring for them," while the remaining one quarter did not, according to a survey conducted by Phillips Products.

The survey found that most people keeping plants have a "nurturing" or caring, "protective attitude" toward their plants.

Today In History

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

It is well known that the first few minutes after a heart attack or a stroke may determine, in some instances, whether a person will live or die.

When one is surrounded by friends or family, there is a greater chance that doctors and paramedics, and fire department and police department emergency rescue teams may come to the rescue.

For the many people who are living alone, a device known as "Microlet" was created by an engineer, Tom Cataldo, in Burbank, California.

The device is a tiny radio transmitter about the size of a matchbook. It can be worn around the neck and, when squeezed, can send out a message to one of the 24 hour emergency agencies in the city.

The message can, in addition, be sent to a neighbor friend or relative, thus insuring the live-alone immediate contact with the outside world should a medical emergency arise.

A long-haired young man had his entire scalp torn off when his hair got caught in machinery. (This is a danger that is more real than is commonly believed.)

A group of surgeons, neurosurgeons

and plastic surgeons, using operating microscopes, did a total scalp replantation — possibly the first one done in this country.

At the Ralph K. Davies Medical Center in San Francisco, the surgeons worked for 17 hours to rejoin the arteries and veins that had been severed by the accident.

Working in relay teams, some tackled the problem of infection, others devoted themselves to the torn blood vessels, while another group tended to the injury to the skull itself.

The victim, after recovery, said, "I should have known better because, as a chef, I must be careful in the kitchen and keep my long hair tied back when I'm around moving parts or open flames."

At the Medical College of Georgia, Dr. Armand Karow and a team of scientists have succeeded in freezing animal kidneys, then thawing them and using them when needed for transplants in other animals.

This technique has proved to be of value and holds promise for human application.

Jobless Rate Drops Below 7 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate in May fell below 7 per cent for the first time in 2½ years, edging down to 6.9 per cent, the Labor Department reported today.

The department said the decline in the jobless rate, down from 7 per cent in April, coupled with continued growth in employment last month signaled further improvement in the economy.

Total employment rose by 385,000 in May to 90.4 million.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hold Out For Better Offer

DEAR ABBY: I am a 24-year-old woman who had had enough bad experiences with men to fill a book. I've always had a good figure and a pretty face, and I never had any trouble getting dates. The trouble is I want to get married, but none of the guys I've gone with has wanted to marry me. They all want affairs, but not marriage.

I have had two abortions and have promised myself I will not go to bed with another man unless he marries me first.

Sex never gave me much pleasure. I just gave in to please the guy.

I'm going with a man now who keeps trying to get me into bed, but I'm holding out. He promised that if he gets me pregnant he will marry me.

Now I'm wondering it maybe that isn't the way to get him to marry me. I'd really like to marry him.

I'm so mixed up I don't know what to do. Can you help me?

WANTS MARRIAGE

DEAR WANTS: With regard to the man in your life: His promise to marry you if he gets you pregnant is as worthless as he is.

Stick to your decision. You're beginning to get it together. Don't permit yourself to be used.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been having an affair right in front of my face for more than two years. His "mistress" is a bit out of the ordinary. It's a set of golf clubs.

I married a golf nut. When he's not working or eating, he has an imaginary golf club in his hands, which he continually swings back and forth. His practice area ranged from my parents' home to our bedroom.

He has left the house in a rainstorm to go to the driving range to practice! Other than his all-consuming obsession with golf, he is probably the most perfect husband a woman could imagine.

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: I wonder if you know how lucky you are. If you aren't already a golfer, I urge you to develop an interest in the sport. Take lessons from a pro, keep your head down and keep your eye on your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Did you know that some people actually can hardly wait to get the newspaper to read the

When you are broiling lamb or pork chops, cut away the excess fat from around the edges. And snip the remaining fat at intervals so the chops won't "curl." One caution: when broiling pork chops, make sure they are thoroughly cooked.

Weekend Camp Out Is Held

Twenty-four families of the Roundtown Roamers camping club met on Memorial-Day weekend at their campsite - Roundtown Acres in the Hocking Hills.

Mr. Guy Tatman requested that wash gravel be spread on the floor of the shelter house.

President Russell Archer gave the dates for the Cincinnati Red's Baseball campout. It will be held August 5, 7. The Reds will be playing the Pittsburgh Pirates. Mr. Archer will have the reservation blanks at a future campout. Also occurring that weekend will be the Renfro Valley Gospel Sing in Kentucky.

The box social scheduled for the June meeting has been cancelled.

Members attended the Big Pine Methodist Church and ate breakfast at the Hocking Lodge.

Hard-cooked eggs are usually easiest to peel if you crackle the shells as soon as they are cooked. And another tip: start peeling the eggs at air-cell end.

We want to help you meet the energy shortage head-on!

We've lowered our rate on any loan that'll help save energy.

The energy crisis is not going to go away.

That's why every BancOhio bank has set aside funds at special rates to help Ohio save energy.

We've reduced our interest rates on any home improvement loan that can help save energy. Don't wait for next winter to do something about it. Add insulation to walls and attic. Install a new furnace or have your old one reconditioned. Have storm windows and doors installed. Warm up your floors with new carpeting. Keep the cold out with new siding.

Even repair damage already caused by this year's severe winter.

We want to make it as easy as possible for you to help save energy. Apply for your Energy-Saver Loan now. And funds will be available when you are ready to make that needed energy saving home improvement. You'll not only add comfort and value to your home, but with our Energy-Saver Loan, you'll save money.

Come in and talk with us. We want to help you meet the energy shortage head-on.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): After some early morning confusion, day should turn out to be surprisingly productive. You also stand to gain through personal relationships.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Stellar influences only fairly generous, so you will have to provide your own momentum to carry on. Neither too many problems nor much opposition indicated.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Someone may try to place a burdensome imposition on you. Reject what you consider unfair, but graciously offer alternatives for handling.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Mild influences indicate a so-so day unless you do something about it. But, in your search for more stimulating activities, don't go off on wild tangents.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day calling for the utmost discretion. Taking issue with associates — even if you KNOW you are right — could have bitter consequences.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Keep enlarging your sphere of contacts — particularly among those who share your interests and contribute to your personality development.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Correspondence, meetings, creative pursuits, good fellowship and cultural interests head a long list of favored activities. A really good day!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Your planets now stimulate keen and quick thinking; generate inspiring ideas which could be of great benefit to organizations or to your community.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Be careful not to accept suggestions which seem intriguing at first glance but which, at a second, could prove to have very shaky foundations. Evaluate all carefully.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): If you've been wanting for some time to do something special, you now have the chance to do so with more assurance. Don't be too aggressive, however, or you could upset the proverbial applecart.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Great activity — along with a few snags! Prepared to expect the unexpected, however, your innate ingenuity and foresight will see you through.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A sparkling outlook for those of you who march with the progressive-minded and aim for top goals only. Maritime and other outdoor interests highly favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly ingenious, adaptable and gregarious by nature. You have a wealth of talents but may be too impulsive at times, or so restless that you drop projects without giving them time to prove themselves. Your imagination is valid and you put a touch of originality and finesse to whatever you do. While you are just as creatively inclined as other Geminians and could make as enviable a success in the worlds of literature, music, the theater, or decorating, you, unlike many others of your Sign, have an unusually good business head and are something of a wizard in finances. While you are a good planner, many of your greatest successes are the result of "brainstorms," which can be truly brilliant. The world expects much of the Gemini — and he expects much of himself. Birthdate of: Igor Stravinsky, renowned Russian composer; Adam Smith, economist.

Orient Man Charged With Child Abuse

An Orient man and his common law wife were jailed in New Smyrna Beach, Fla., late Thursday on charges of abusing their 10 children.

Volusia County Sheriff's Deputies identified the pair as Robert Lee Rizer, 37, of Orient, and Mary Alice Archey, believed to be of Mogadore, Ohio, near Toledo.

They were held in county jail in nearby DeLand under $1,000 bond each.

A grocer complained to Sheriff's Deputies that the children, aged 10 months to 15 years, were living in squalor in a make-shift camp on the shores of Lake Ashby, about 10 miles southwest of this Atlantic Coast community.

Deputies said the family's camp consisted of tents and abandoned cars, and that it had no toilet facility.

They added that the children had no shoes and wore filthy and torn clothing, but that they were not in ill health.

There was no immediate word on how the family came to be in the area, some 13 miles south of the lavish resort city of Daytona Beach, and Deputies did not know when they arrived.

The Florida Division of Youth Services placed the children in temporary shelter homes.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): After some early morning confusion, day should turn out to be surprisingly productive. You also stand to gain through personal relationships.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Stellar influences only fairly generous, so you will have to provide your own momentum to carry on. Neither too many problems nor much opposition indicated.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Someone may try to place a burdensome imposition on you. Reject what you consider unfair, but graciously offer alternatives for handling.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Mild influences indicate a so-so day unless you do something about it. But, in your search for more stimulating activities, don't go off on wild tangents.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A day calling for the utmost discretion. Taking issue with associates — even if you know you are right — could have bitter consequences.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Keep enlarging your sphere of contacts — particularly among those who share your interests and contribute to your personality development.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Correspondence, meetings, creative pursuits, good fellowship and cultural interests head a long list of favored activities. A really good day!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Your planets now stimulate keen and quick thinking; generate inspiring ideas which could be of great benefit to organizations or to your community.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Be careful not to accept suggestions which seem intriguing at first glance but which, at a second, could prove to have very shaky foundations. Evaluate all carefully.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): If you've been wanting for some time to do something special, you now have the chance to do so with more assurance. Don't be too aggressive, however, or you could upset the proverbial applecart.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Great activity — along with a few snags! Prepared to expect the unexpected, however, your innate ingenuity and foresight will see you through.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A sparkling outlook for those of you who march with the progressive-minded and aim for top goals only. Maritime and other outdoor interests highly favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly ingenious, adaptable and gregarious by nature. You have a wealth of talents but may be too impulsive at times, or so restless that you drop projects without giving them time to prove themselves. Your imagination is valid and you put a touch of originality and finesse to whatever you do. While you are just as creatively inclined as other Geminians and could make as enviable a success in the worlds of literature, music, the theater, or decorating, you, unlike many others of your Sign, have an unusually good business head and are something of a wizard in finances. While you are a good planner, many of your greatest successes are the result of "brainstorms," which can be truly brilliant. The world expects much of the Gemini — and he expects much of himself. Birthdate of: Igor Stravinsky, renowned Russian composer; Adam Smith, economist.

Orient Man Charged With Child Abuse

An Orient man and his common law wife were jailed in New Smyrna Beach, Fla., late Thursday on charges of abusing their 10 children.

Volusia County Sheriff's Deputies identified the pair as Robert Lee Rizer, 37, of Orient, and Mary Alice Archey, believed to be of Mogadore, Ohio, near Toledo.

They were held in county jail in nearby DeLand under $1,000 bond each.

A grocer complained to Sheriff's Deputies that the children, aged 10 months to 15 years, were living in squalor in a make-shift camp on the shores of Lake Ashby, about 10 miles southwest of this Atlantic Coast community.

Deputies said the family's camp consisted of tents and abandoned cars, and that it had no toilet facility.

They added that the children had no shoes and wore filthy and torn clothing, but that they were not in ill health.

There was no immediate word on how the family came to be in the area, some 13 miles south of the lavish resort city of Daytona Beach, and Deputies did not know when they arrived.

The Florida Division of Youth Services placed the children in temporary shelter homes.

CLOSE FINISH — Circleville's Natalie Martin (center) and Michelle Batman (right) of Peninsula Woodridge appear to break the tape together in the finish of their semi final heat in the State Girls Track Meet Friday at Ohio State Stadium. Both girls finished with identical times of 59.9 and qualified for today's 440-yard dash finals 3:10 p.m. at Ohio State Stadium. After a long delay, the judges claimed Michelle was the winner of the heat with Natalie second.

HEADING OUT — Juli Schneider (closest to the camera) of Circleville moves into the first curve in her heat of the 440-yard dash semi finals Friday at the State Girls Track Meet at Ohio Stadium. Juli came on strong to finish third in her heat with a time of 60.4 which qualifies her for the 440 finals today at OSU. Karen Bradley of Dayton Jefferson won the heat with a time of 58.7 which ties the State Meet record. Teays Valley's Perri Martin will also be at the State Meet today when she runs in the 880-yard run finals at 3:40 p.m.

Expos Blank Cardinals With 2-0 Shutout

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Steve Rogers wouldn't take the pitch back, even if it cost him a no-hitter. "I had no regrets about that pitch," he said. "He could've hit it at the shortstop."

But Mike Tyson didn't. He grounded the ball up the middle with one out in the third inning—and it turned out to be the only hit off Rogers as the Montreal Expos posted a 2-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

Rogers, one of the hottest pitchers in the National League, struck out 10 batters to bring his league-leading total to 83. Not incidentally, he lowered his earned run average to 1.92 and improved his record to 7-4.

In other National League games, the San Diego Padres blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in 11 innings; the Cincinnati Reds turned back the Houston Astros 4-0; the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Chicago Cubs 5-0; the Philadelphia Phillies edged the New York Mets 1-0 and the Atlanta Braves took a two-night doubleheader from the San Francisco Giants, 5-3 and 8-7.

Rogers was staked to a 1-0 lead in the first when Dave Cash scored on Ellis Valentine's forceout grounder. St.

Louis starter Eric Rasmussen, who surrendered only five hits, retired the next 13 men he faced before Larry Parrish clouted his sixth homer of the season in the fifth. It was Parrish's first homer at the Olympic Stadium.

Rasmussen struck out five and walked none before he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Padres 1, Dodgers 0

Dave Winfield belted an 11th-inning home run to boost San Diego over Los Angeles, as four Padres pitchers combined on a two-hitter. Winfield's homer, his 11th, came off loser Charlie Hough. Hough had relieved starter Don Sutton after nine innings.

Randy Jones started for San Diego, giving up two hits through six innings, and was followed by Rick Sawyer, Dan Spillner and Rollie Fingers. Fingers pitched the final 21-3 innings to earn his fourth victory in five decisions.

Reds 4, Astros 0

Fred Norman pitched a two-hitter and Johnny Bench lashed a two-run homer as Cincinnati whipped Houston. Norman, the winner of his last four decisions, was plagued with wildness. He walked six batters in the first four innings, and later walked two batters in the ninth before pitching out of trouble.

The Reds scored all the runs they needed in the second when George Foster opened with a single and scored ahead of Bench's ninth homer of the season.

Pirates 5, Cubs 0

Jim Rooker pitched a five-hitter and

4 Golfers Share Lead In Kemper

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The halfway leaders were considerably less than comfortable with their positions atop the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf tournament but the runners-up were bubbling with confidence. "I'm not very excited about it," said co-leader George Archer, citing his poor driving as a major obstacle to retaining his spot through the last two rounds of this chase for a $50,000 first prize.

Longshot Barney Thompson, on the verge of quitting the tour because of poor play, noted he has led two other tournaments after 36 holes "and I played terrible the last two rounds each time."

They shared the top spot at 137, seven under par, after 36 holes with Tom Weiskopf and Chi Chi Rodriguez one shot back of them.

"I feel I'm starting to play the golf I'm capable of playing," said Weiskopf, a two-time Kemper champion but a non-winner for two years. "It's very easy to get pumped up, excited about playing in a tournament where you've won before, where you know you can play well."

Thompson, who hasn't made expenses in three full years of tour activity, has collected only $976 this year and said he's "given myself only until July of this year to see if I can make it out here."

He took a major step in that direction when he rammed in a 12-foot birdie putt on the final hole that finished off a two-under-par 70 and enabled him to tie Archer for the lead Friday.

Archer had to battle back from a pair of "sixes" with four consecutive birdies and had a 71 in the hot, humid weather. He called his driving "terrible, disastrous."

Rodriguez had a 70 and Weiskopf a 71.

Fryman Unhappy With Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Woodie Fryman says he would rather be traded than continue to remain an inactive member of the Cincinnati Reds pitching staff.

"I still think I throw the ball pretty good," the 37-year-old Fryman said. "Better than a lot of left-handers in the big leagues. I know I haven't got much time left, but there are clubs that can make better use of me than the Reds and this club knows that."

Fryman was a key player in the off-season trade that sent Tony Perez to Montreal. He was 13-13 for the Expos last year and had said, "If I pitch the way I did last year, there's no reason why I can't win 15 to 18 games for the Reds."

Fryman was supposed to take up the slack left by the departure of Don Gullett, who played out his option and signed with the New York Yankees.

Things did not work out that way however and Fryman won only two of his first six decisions while compiling an earned run average of 5.73.

That got him demoted to the bullpen, but the actual demotion was not as irritating as the way Fryman said it was done.

"I listen to the radio and read in the newspaper that I'm in the bullpen, but no one came up to me and told me," Fryman said.

The pitcher was so irate that after eight days of not being called in to pitch, he went to see manager Sparky Anderson.

"We had a long talk," Fryman recalled of his session Wednesday. "He told me I'd be a spot starter and used in certain situations."

Lou Brock of the Cardinals stole seven bases in the 1967 World Series and then stole seven more in the 1968 series.

Steve Cauten, the jockey who won the January, 1977, Hickok Award at age 16, was the youngest winner ever of that trophy.

Brigham Young Leads In Track

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Brigham Young retained a slender lead, but Washington State, Texas-El Paso and Arizona State were set to make a run for the team title today in final competition at the 56th NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Paced by first-place finish in the decathlon, a third in the shot put and a sixth in the 10,000-meter run, BYU led the meet after seven events with 17 points.

Washington State, UTEP and Arizona State with 16, 14 and 12 points appeared to be in the best spots to pursue the title won last year by Southern California.

Stanford, UCLA and Illinois all were tied with Washington State for second place after Friday's round of competition, but none of them had favorites scheduled to compete in the 14 final events today.

The year Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs, 1927, he sent 17 out of the park in the final month of September.

Youth League Action

CIRCLEVILLE LL MINORS Savings Bank 6, Ward's 4

Todd Sark belted a grand slam homer for the Bankers in the bottom of the sixth to send the game into extra innings and Mark Anderson's two-run triple in the bottom of the eighth put the game in the Banker's vault.

Anderson and McConnell shared the hill for winners while McPherson and Robinson handled the mound duties for Ward's.

McConnell added a double to the Bankers plate attack while Utt, Hawks, McConnell, and Barton each had a single while Emerson rapped a pair of singles.

Angles cracked a homer and single for Ward's, McFerrin had a double, Riffle two singles while McPherson had a single.

Rotary 10, First National Bank 3

Greg Huffer hurled the win while Eddie Sims and Kelchner shared the hill for the Bankers.

Huffer rapped a triple and double for Rotary, Eddie Emerine a double and single, Scott Morrison a double and single, Ralph King a double and single and Todd Wynkoop had a single.

Eddie Sims belted a homer which was the only hit for the Bankers.

CIRCLEVILLE MOSQUITO Block's 24, PPG 12

Joe Huffer and Jeff Bennington combined to hurl the win while Jeff Farthing handled the mound duties for PPG.

Andy Jones led Block's with a homer and three singles, Eric Brooks rapped two singles while Joe Huffer, Brian Jenkins and Jeff Collins all blasted a homer.

Dave Weller slammed a homer and triple for PPG and Steve Miller cracked a three-bagger.

Pickaway Shrine Club 13, Circleville Auto Parts 11

Don Robinson, Brian Cook and Steve Magill shared the mound for the Shriners while Mike Pollock went all the way for Auto Parts.

John Wyman paced the Shriners with a grand slam homer and a single, Brian Cook rapped a double and two singles, Sherman Kelchner had a double and single and Steve Magill rapped a single.

Wilcox had two doubles and a homer for Auto Parts, Metcalfe a double, Enoch a double and single, Pollock a homer and single while Wolfe, Ballou and Leist each had a single.

TRI COUNTY MAJORS Washington 10, Stoutsville 0

Eric Longberry hurled a no-hitter and fanned 12 for Washington while Griffith and Sahr were on the hill for Stoutsville.

Phil Minor and Chris Seimers rapped homers for the winners.

Washington No. 1, 25 Stoutsville 5

Nathan Young hurled the win for Washington while Kelly Style and G. Sigler shared the hill for Stoutsville.

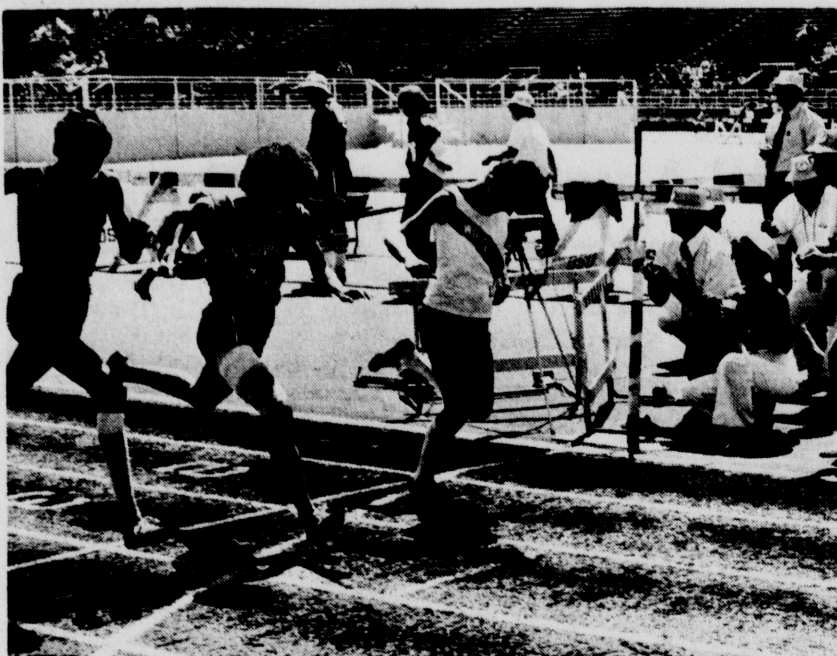

Hits for Washington were by: Brent Jackson, double; Nathan Young, homer and two singles; Jody Richardson, double; Bart Leist, double and three singles; Scott Shuttleworth, double and single; while Shawn Free, Dewey Feigh and David Skaggs each had a single.

TRI COUNTY LL MINORS Washington No. 1, 11, Stoutsville 5

John Stonerock and Brent Fletcher shared the mound for the winners while Kevin Strous was the Stoutsville hurler.

Matt Pritchard slammed a homer for the winners, Bobby Weffler double and single, John Stonerock a triple and double, Brent Fletcher a double, while Marty Hayes, Kevin Stonerock and Doug Eastman each rapped a single.

Keith Cassill rapped a triple and single for Stoutsville, Scott Noble slammed a double and Mike Likens cracked a single.

CLOSE FINISH — Circleville's Natalie Martin (center) and Michelle Batman (right) of Peninsula Woodridge appear to break the tape together in the finish of their semi final heat in the State Girls Track Meet Friday at Ohio State Stadium. Both girls finished with identical times of 59.9 and qualified for today's 440-yard dash finals 3:10 p.m. at Ohio State Stadium. After a long delay, the judges claimed Michelle was the winner of the heat with Natalie second.

HEADING OUT — Juli Schneider (closest to the camera) of Circleville moves into the first curve in her heat of the 440-yard dash semi finals Friday at the State Girls Track Meet at Ohio Stadium. Juli came on strong to finish third in her heat with a time of 60.4 which qualifies her for the 440 finals today at OSU. Karen Bradley of Dayton Jefferson won the heat with a time of 58.7 which ties the State Meet record. Teays Valley's Perri Martin will also be at the State Meet today when she runs in the 880-yard run finals at 3:40 p.m.

Expos Blank Cardinals With 2-0 Shutout

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Steve Rogers wouldn't take the pitch back, even if it cost him a no-hitter. "I had no regrets about that pitch," he said. "He could've hit it at the shortstop."

But Mike Tyson didn't. He grounded the ball up the middle with one out in the third inning—and it turned out to be the only hit off Rogers as the Montreal Expos posted a 2-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

Rogers, one of the hottest pitchers in the National League, struck out 10 batters to bring his league-leading total to 83. Not incidentally, he lowered his earned run average to 1.92 and improved his record to 7-4.

In other National League games, the San Diego Padres blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 in 11 innings; the Cincinnati Reds turned back the Houston Astros 4-0; the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Chicago Cubs 5-0; the Philadelphia Phillies edged the New York Mets 1-0 and the Atlanta Braves took a two-night doubleheader from the San Francisco Giants, 5-3 and 8-7.

Rogers was staked to a 1-0 lead in the first when Dave Cash scored on Ellis Valentine's forceout grounder. St.

Louis starter Eric Rasmussen, who surrendered only five hits, retired the next 13 men he faced before Larry Parrish clouted his sixth homer of the season in the fifth. It was Parrish's first homer at the Olympic Stadium.

Rasmussen struck out five and walked none before he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Padres 1, Dodgers 0

Dave Winfield belted an 11th-inning home run to boost San Diego over Los Angeles, as four Padres pitchers combined on a two-hitter. Winfield's homer, his 11th, came off loser Charlie Hough. Hough had relieved starter Don Sutton after nine innings.

Randy Jones started for San Diego, giving up two hits through six innings, and was followed by Rick Sawyer, Dan Spillner and Rollie Fingers. Fingers pitched the final 21-3 innings to earn his fourth victory in five decisions.

Reds 4, Astros 0

Fred Norman pitched a two-hitter and Johnny Bench lashed a two-run homer as Cincinnati whipped Houston. Norman, the winner of his last four decisions, was plagued with wildness. He walked six batters in the first four innings, and later walked two batters in the ninth before pitching out of trouble.

The Reds scored all the runs they needed in the second when George Foster opened with a single and scored ahead of Bench's ninth homer of the season.

Pirates 5, Cubs 0

Jim Rooker pitched a five-hitter and

4 Golfers Share Lead In Kemper

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The halfway leaders were considerably less than comfortable with their positions atop the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf tournament but the runners-up were bubbling with confidence.

"I'm not very excited about it," said co-leader George Archer, citing his poor driving as a major obstacle to retaining his spot through the last two rounds of this chase for a $50,000 first prize.

Longshot Barney Thompson, on the verge of quitting the tour because of poor play, noted he has led two other tournaments after 36 holes "and I played terrible the last two rounds each time."

They shared the top spot at 137, seven under par, after 36 holes with Tom Weiskopf and Chi Chi Rodriguez one shot back of them.

"I feel I'm starting to play the golf I'm capable of playing," said Weiskopf, a two-time Kemper champion but a non-winner for two years. "It's very easy to get pumped up, excited about playing in a tournament where you've won before, where you know you can play well."

Thompson, who hasn't made expenses in three full years of tour activity, has collected only $976 this year and said he's "given myself only until July of this year to see if I can make it out here."

He took a major step in that direction when he rammed in a 12-foot birdie putt on the final hole that finished off a two-under-par 70 and enabled him to tie Archer for the lead Friday.

Archer had to battle back from a pair of "sixes" with four consecutive birdies and had a 71 in the hot, humid weather. He called his driving "terrible, disastrous."

Rodriguez had a 70 and Weiskopf a 71.

Fryman Unhappy With Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Woodie Fryman says he would rather be traded than continue to remain an inactive member of the Cincinnati Reds pitching staff.

"I still think I throw the ball pretty good," the 37-year-old Fryman said. "Better than a lot of left-handers in the big leagues. I know I haven't got much time left, but there are clubs that can make better use of me than the Reds and this club knows that."

Fryman was a key player in the off-season trade that sent Tony Perez to Montreal. He was 13-13 for the Expos last year and had said, "If I pitch the way I did last year, there's no reason why I can't win 15 to 18 games for the Reds."

Fryman was supposed to take up the slack left by the departure of Don Gullett, who played out his option and signed with the New York Yankees.

Things did not work out that way however and Fryman won only two of his first six decisions while compiling an earned run average of 5.73.

That got him demoted to the bullpen, but the actual demotion was not as irritating as the way Fryman said it was done.

"I listen to the radio and read in the newspaper that I'm in the bullpen, but no one came up to me and told me," Fryman said.

The pitcher was so irate that after eight days of not being called in to pitch, he went to see manager Sparky Anderson.

"We had a long talk," Fryman recalled of his session Wednesday. "He told me I'd be a spot starter and used in certain situations."

Lou Brock of the Cardinals stole seven bases in the 1967 World Series and then stole seven more in the 1968 series.

Steve Caution, the jockey who won the January, 1977, Hickok Award at age 16, was the youngest winner ever of that trophy.

Brigham Young Leads In Track

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Brigham Young retained a slender lead, but Washington State, Texas-El Paso and Arizona State were set to make a run for the team title today in final competition at the 56th NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Paced by first-place finish in the decathlon, a third in the shot put and a sixth in the 10,000-meter run, BYU led the meet after seven events with 17 points.

Washington State, UTEP and Arizona State with 16, 14 and 12 points appeared to be in the best spots to pursue the title won last year by Southern California.

Stanford, UCLA and Illinois all were tied with Washington State for second place after Friday's round of competition, but none of them had favorites scheduled to compete in the 14 final events today.

The year Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs, 1927, he sent 17 out of the park in the final month of September.

Norman Walks 8, Still Blanks Astros

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I walked eight batters," that's not me, lamented pitcher Fred Norman despite the two-hit shutout he threw at the Houston Astros on Friday night.

"I know I only gave up two hits. It brings the club up and that's what's important," Norman, 5-2, said after the 4-0 victory, Cincinnati's first in five games with the Astros this season. It was Norman's first complete game.

"He confuses the hitters because they try to outguess him," said catcher Johnny Bench who hit a two-run homer. "They think they have him pegged but then the bottom drops out on the next pitch."

"I knew we were in trouble when I saw Norman was the pitcher," said Houston batting coach Deacon Jones. "His style always gives our hitters trouble."

Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, commenting on Norman's variety of pitches, said, "Freddie is one of the premier pitchers in the game, if he doesn't try to get too fine."

Anderson noted Norman's career record has low hits per inning "but he has a bad base on balls record."

The victory evened Cincinnati's record at 24-24 and Anderson was elated by the two-hit performance of two-time Most Valuable Player Joe Morgan.

"Let me tell you, the Reds are moving now because the little man is starting to turn it on," said Anderson. "Yes, it's coming around," said Morgan. "Before I was killing the rallies but now I'm keeping them going."

George Foster's two-run double in the second inning off loser Mark Lemongello, 1-8.

Bench's two run blast in the third inning carried 425-feet over the left centerfield wall.

The Astros and Reds meet tonight in the third of a four game series. The Astros won Thursday night.

Houston's hits were by Art Howe, his fourth consecutive double in two games, and Jose Cruz. Both were left on base.

Eckersley, Tribe Whip Mariners, 7-1

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Dennis Eckersley missed Cy Young's 73-year-old record by a mere two outs, which was one less out than the Baltimore Orioles picked up when they pulled off one of the strangest triple plays in baseball history.

Eckersley, the 22-year-old Cleveland Indian right-hander, pitched his third straight gem of a game, but it wasn't enough to overtake the legendary Young, a Hall of Famer.

After 22 1-3 hitless innings covering three games—one a no-hitter—Seattle's Ruppert Jones tagged Eckersley for a home run with two outs in the sixth inning Friday night. Jim Kern relieved at the start of the seventh and didn't allow a hit, preserving the Indians' one-hit, 7-1 victory over the Mariners.

What's over for Eckersley is a sensational streak of 22 1-3 innings of hitless pitching and 23 2-3 straight scoreless innings.

Young remains in the record books with the 23 hitless innings he pitched in 1904 with the Boston Red Sox. And Johnny Vander Meer of Cincinnati remains alone in the record books for his two straight no-hitters.

But the Orioles are probably alone in

Trail Blazers One Game From Crown

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Portland Trail Blazers, expansion ragamuffins who suffered through six losing seasons, are just one game away from the National Basketball Association championship in their first year under Coach Jack Ramsay.

They'll try to wrap it up Sunday (CBS, 3 p.m., EDT) on their home floor, where they have been virtually unbeatable this year, winning their last 17 in a row and 44 of 50 through the regular season and playoffs. And they'll have the added support of the vocal legions who have made Blazermania a phenomenon in the Pacific Northwest.

The Blazers produced something less than their best Friday night but nonetheless moved within one victory of the NBA crown, beating the Philadelphia 76ers 110-104 to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven playoff finals.

It was a strange game that ran in spurts and produced an unlikely hero—Bobby Gross, Portland's unassuming 6-foot-6 forward who came into the series as "the other guy," the unknown whose job it would be to try and stop the brilliant Julius Erving of Philadelphia.

Gross helped the Blazers take the lead at the start, contributing eight points, two assists and a steal as Portland jumped out to a 16-9 advantage while Philadelphia was missing 11 of its first 14 shots.

The rest of the first half was miserable basketball which Ramsay described as "not an artistic masterpiece." Neither team could get anything going, and although the Sixers hit only 29 per cent of their shots from the field, they trailed by just 45-41.

It was 53-44 before Philadelphia ran off four straight baskets, the last two by slumping George McGinnis, to pull within one at 53-52 with 8:03 to go in the third period.

Gross spearheaded a Portland explosion which produced 32 points over

Numbers Game Set In Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — For nearly 100 years, betting on the numbers has been illegal in Michigan. Starting Monday, it has the state's blessings.

The state lottery bureau will be taking bets in southeastern lower Michigan at 300 spots from Saginaw and Lansing to the Ohio line. The first drawing will be at 7:26 p.m. Monday.

Officials of the state's Lottery Bureau say they started their own numbers racket in hopes of getting a piece of the profits enjoyed for years by organized crime.

Gus Harrison, lottery commissioner, said Thursday the "Daily Game" should bring the state $50 million or more in profits the first year and $160 million to $170 million in the second year.

Players will be able to place bets ranging from 50 cents to $6. The bettor will choose the three-digit number, the amount and type of bet.

A bettor can bet "straight"—that is, on just one number, or he can bet on a combination of digits. If he picks the number 123, for example, he gets a payoff of 500 to one with a straight bet. For a combination bet, he gets a lower payoff if, say, the digits 312 come up.

Drawings will be held six nights a week to pick the day's winners.

Harrison said the lottery's other two games — Michigame and Instant Game — will not be changed.

Norman Walks 8, Still Blanks Astros

CINCINNATI (AP) — "I walked eight batters," that's not me, lamented pitcher Fred Norman despite the two-hit shutout he threw at the Houston Astros on Friday night.

"I know I only gave up two hits. It brings the club up and that's what's important," Norman, 5-2, said after the 4-0 victory, Cincinnati's first in five games with the Astros this season. It was Norman's first complete game.

"He confuses the hitters because they try to outguess him," said catcher Johnny Bench who hit a two-run homer. "They think they have him pegged but then the bottom drops out on the next pitch."

"I knew we were in trouble when I saw Norman was the pitcher," said Houston batting coach Deacon Jones. "His style always gives our hitters trouble."

Reds Manager Sparky Anderson, commenting on Norman's variety of pitches, said, "Freddie is one of the premier pitchers in the game, if he doesn't try to get too fine."

Anderson noted Norman's career record has low hits per inning "but he has a bad base on balls record."

The victory evened Cincinnati's record at 24-24 and Anderson was elated by the two-hit performance of two-time Most Valuable Player Joe Morgan.

"Let me tell you, the Reds are moving now because the little man is starting to turn it on," said Anderson. "Yes, it's coming around," said Morgan. "Before I was killing the rallies but now I'm keeping them going."

George Foster's two-run double in the second inning off loser Mark Lemongello, 1-8.

Bench's two run blast in the third inning carried 425-feet over the left centerfield wall.

The Astros and Reds meet tonight in the third of a four game series. The Astros won Thursday night.

Houston's hits were by Art Howe, his fourth consecutive double in two games, and Jose Cruz. Both were left on base.

Eckersley, Tribe Whip Mariners, 7-1

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Dennis Eckersley missed Cy Young's 73-year-old record by a mere two outs, which was one less out than the Baltimore Orioles picked up when they pulled off one of the strangest triple plays in baseball history.

Eckersley, the 22-year-old Cleveland Indian right-hander, pitched his third straight gem of a game, but it wasn't enough to overtake the legendary Young, a Hall of Famer.

After 22 1-3 hitless innings covering three games—one a no-hitter—Seattle's Ruppert Jones tagged Eckersley for a home run with two outs in the sixth inning Friday night. Jim Kern relieved at the start of the seventh and didn't allow a hit, preserving the Indians' one-hit, 7-1 victory over the Mariners.

What's over for Eckersley is a sensational streak of 22 1-3 innings of hitless pitching and 23 2-3 straight scoreless innings.

Young remains in the record books with the 23 hitless innings he pitched in 1904 with the Boston Red Sox. And Johnny Vander Meer of Cincinnati remains alone in the record books for his two straight no-hitters.

But the Orioles are probably alone in baseball history for their weird triple play, which started as a routine sacrifice fly then ended with shortstop Mark Belanger making two putouts.

Elsewhere in the American League Friday night, the Chicago White Sox topped the New York Yankees 9-5; Minnesota downed Boston 6-2; Texas pounded Milwaukee 15-8, and Oakland edged Toronto 3-2.

Down 7-5 entering the ninth, the Royals loaded the bases against Oriole reliever Tippy Martinez on Al Cowens' double, Dave Nelson's walk and Fred Patek's single.

Pinch-hitter John Wathan lofted an innocent sacrifice fly to right fielder Pat Kelly, scoring Cowens. Then the fun began.

Nelson went to third and Patek broke for second when he saw second baseman Billy Smith in short right field and second base unprotected. Belanger took Kelly's throw then tagged Patek after an exchange of tosses with Smith in a rundown.

Nelson, representing the tying run, dashed for home but was caught midway down the line as Belanger turned and ran with the ball toward him, tagging him about 10 feet from home plate.

Trail Blazers One Game From Crown

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Portland Trail Blazers, expansion ragamuffins who suffered through six losing seasons, are just one game away from the National Basketball Association championship in their first year under Coach Jack Ramsay.

They'll try to wrap it up Sunday (CBS, 3 p.m., EDT) on their home floor, where they have been virtually unbeatable this year, winning their last 17 in a row and 44 of 50 through the regular season and playoffs. And they'll have the added support of the vocal legions who have made Blazermania a phenomenon in the Pacific Northwest.

The Blazers produced something less than their best Friday night but nonetheless moved within one victory of the NBA crown, beating the Philadelphia 76ers 110-104 to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven playoff finals.

It was a strange game that ran in spurts and produced an unlikely hero—Bobby Gross, Portland's unassuming 6-foot-6 forward who came into the series as "the other guy," the unknown whose job it would be to try and stop the brilliant Julius Erving of Philadelphia.

Gross helped the Blazers take the lead at the start, contributing eight points, two assists and a steal as Portland jumped out to a 16-9 advantage while Philadelphia was missing 11 of its first 14 shots.

The rest of the first half was miserable basketball which Ramsay described as "not an artistic masterpiece." Neither team could get anything going, and although the Sixers hit only 29 per cent of their shots from the field, they trailed by just 45-41.

It was 53-44 before Philadelphia ran off four straight baskets, the last two by slumping George McGinnis, to pull within one at 53-52 with 8:03 to go in the third period.

Gross spearheaded a Portland explosion which produced 32 points over the next eight minutes. He scored 11 of his team-high 25 points in the third quarter, which ended with Portland in command 85-66.

The Blazers increased the lead to 22 points in the fourth quarter, reminiscent of the 129-107 and 130-98 routs they enjoyed in the last two games in Portland after dropping the first two games of the series here.

Gottfried Seeks Tennis Victory

PARIS (AP) — An unfamiliar spectacle was offered to Parisian tennis fans today—the semifinals of the French Open Championships, with not a European player in sight.

"It's high time someone from the other side of the Atlantic won this title," said Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., one of the four men in contention in the changing scene of the Roland Garros Stadium grounds.

Gottfried was to play Phil Dent of Australia. The other semi was between Raul Ramirez of Mexico and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.

Faith In A City

DETROIT (AP) — The city's Jewish population is forming a Jewish congregation in the downtown area almost within the shadow of the new $337-million Renaissance Center.

And in the ecumenical spirit, the Rev. John Nader, pastor of Old St. Mary's Catholic Church, has offered rent-free use of school buildings nearby for their synagogue.

Toby Citrin, a Detroit attorney and spokesman for the group, said that "by forming a congregation in downtown Detroit, we're saying we have roots here. Our ancestors lived and worshipped here, and we feel a close relationship with the city as a melting pot of humanity and that we're tied to its future."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

TREAT VICTIM — Members of the Circleville Emergency Medical Team treat Jimmy A. Snyder, 14, 29021 Westfall Road, for leg injuries he suffered when his trail bike was struck by a car 3:20 p.m. Friday on Westfall Road, 200 feet north of the Ross County line. According to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff R.L. Phillips, Snyder was attempting a U-turn on the road when he drove into the path of a car driven by Dwight L. Bethel, 20, Frankfort.

DISPLAY RUTHVEN PRINTS — Limited edition collectors prints by John A. Ruthven, naturalist, author, lecturer, and internationally acknowledged master of wildlife art, are being displayed at the downtown office of BancOhio Second National Bank until June 18 by Chris Everhart. Ruthven's art is being enjoyed by many and used by some as the basis for a wildlife collection which may become a treasured legacy to hand down generation to generation. The display currently being shown at BancOhio Second National is being provided by The Gallery on Main Street, where limited edition prints of his works are available.

Mrs. Carter Opens Tour Of Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Rosalynn Carter puts diplomacy aside today as she travels into the Peruvian countryside to rest at a luxury rural inn and a visit to an agricultural research complex.

The first lady, on the fourth stop of her 13-day Latin American mission, met privately for almost three hours Friday with Peru's moderate president, Gen. Francisco Morales Bermudez, who seized power 21 months ago in a bloodless coup that ousted a leftist military regime.

Peruvian officials described the talks as "warm and cordial," but gave no indication of what was said.

The president and his wife, Rosa, hosted Mrs. Carter at a banquet Friday night at the presidential palace. Morales Bermudez said in a toast that he and Mrs. Carter had "moments of great understanding" and "happy coincidences" of views in their discussions.

The first lady, who wore a long green gown and matching jacket, called the evening of music, dancing and folklore "special and unforgettable," and said she would "tell Jimmy that the ties of friendship with Peru are very strong."

In an arrival statement, Mrs. Carter brought up arms control, a concern raised by military leaders in Ecuador on her previous stop.

The Ecuadorians are worried by Peru's decision, announced late last year, to purchase Soviet military hardware, including planes and tanks.

directly across from Jim Houseman Ford.

According to the report, Mark W. Bowman, 17, 21455 McCoy Road, was southbound on N. Court St., when his car drifted off the right side of the roadway and struck a tree. Bowman and a passenger in his car, Phillip M. Ragland, 18, of Frankfort, were transported to Berger Hospital by the Circleville Emergency Medical Squad. Ragland was treated and released, while Bowman was admitted for treatment of injuries he received in the crash.

Ptl. Ron Thompson and Ptl. Mike Eberhard investigated the accident. They cited Bowman for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence.

Ptl. Alan Hawks investigated a two car non-injury accident earlier Friday. That accident occurred at 5:03 p.m. on E. Main St., at the entrance to the Famous Recipe Fried Chicken restaurant.

According to the report, Deborah S. Martens, 21, of 367 Brown St., was westbound on E. Main St., and attempted to make a left turn onto the restaurant parking lot. She turned her car into the path of an auto driven by Barbara J. Moore, 40, of 25684 Shoemaker Rd.

Ptl. Hawks cited Ms. Martens for failure to yield the right of way.

Ohio State Parks

Set New Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources reports a record 2.4 million persons visited Ohio's 64 state parks over the Memorial Day weekend, the traditional beginning of summer activities.

That was nearly one million more than on the same weekend last year. Ralph Vanzant, chief of the division of parks and recreation, attributed the rise to the warm weather and sunny skies.

Barrett Named

Common Pleas Judge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vernon R. Barrett of Chillicothe was named by Gov. James A. Rhodes Friday as judge of the Ross County Common Pleas Court, succeeding Robert L. Perdue, who died May 21.

Barrett, a practicing attorney since 1935, has served as acting judge of Chillicothe Municipal Court for four years and is a former common pleas court referee.

Mrs. Carter Opens Tour Of Peru

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Rosalynn Carter puts diplomacy aside today as she travels into the Peruvian countryside to rest at a luxury rural inn and a visit to an agricultural research complex.

The first lady, on the fourth stop of her 13-day Latin American mission, met privately for almost three hours Friday with Peru's moderate president, Gen. Francisco Morales Bermudez, who seized power 21 months ago in a bloodless coup that ousted a leftist military regime.

Peruvian officials described the talks as "warm and cordial," but gave no indication of what was said.

The president and his wife, Rosa, hosted Mrs. Carter at a banquet Friday night at the presidential palace. Morales Bermudez said in a toast that he and Mrs. Carter had "moments of great understanding" and "happy coincidences" of views in their discussions.

The first lady, who wore a long green gown and matching jacket, called the evening of music, dancing and folklore "special and unforgettable," and said she would "tell Jimmy that the ties of friendship with Peru are very strong."

In an arrival statement, Mrs. Carter brought up arms control, a concern raised by military leaders in Ecuador on her previous stop.

The Ecuadorians are worried by Peru's decision, announced late last year, to purchase Soviet military hardware, including planes and tanks.
